of Literature at the Fins de Siècles (1900 and 2000) G. J. Dorleijn, Ralf Grüttemeier, Liesbeth Korthals Altes, 2007 The autonomy of the arts and literature is a central issue in the current debate on the crisis in contemporary culture In this debate the tension between two conceptions of art conceived as autotelic or as serving social ethical ideological or commercial ends plays a key role For literature two periods are particularly interesting in this respect the period around 1900 and the turn of the millennium The former is considered to witness the consecration of the autonomy of the arts with respect to morality or social utility and of its prestige as high art against the background of compelling countermovements such as the Arts and crafts movements or socialist art The second period on the other hand has been analysed as displaying in post modern Western cultures an opposite tendency towards deautonomization High literature and art are deemed to have lost their ideological and moral autonomy their aesthetic superiority and their independence with respect to commercial interests The essays in this volume investigate these often strategic claims and conceptions taking into account the social political and institutional contexts in which they are articulated To analyse the issue of the autonomy of literature offers incisive insights into conflicting standpoints about the function of literature in society revealing its connection to law social responsibility gender and political national and religious identities Combining in an often innovative way institutional historical and hermeneutical approaches the collected essays intend to shed new light on the historical and national specifics of the debate about the function of literature
