Building the New Berlin Elizabeth A. Strom,2001 Appraising the redevelopment of Berlin since the late nineteenth century Elizabeth A Strom details how the contests between politicians bureaucrats architects and developers have become especially prominent since reunification Whether addressing the historical struggle to shape the city into the important world capital that it is today charting the re creation of Berlin as a national government center or exploring the city s massive economic restructuring Building the New Berlin illustrates the intimate relationship between architecture and politics in an ongoing dialogue about whom the city should serve Strom suggests that Berlin is a unique case study of city building in the twentieth century due to Berlin s turbulent battles over the central city the seat of national and local governance Nonetheless these tensions provide fertile ground for the study of the central questions of urban political economy Strom has fashioned an accessible well written and perceptive study that not only is a valuable addition to urban development literature but also provides a foundational understanding of the debate and controversy in the planning of Berlin s city center in the 1990s
