Broken String The The Last Words Of An Extinct People:

The Broken String Neil Bennun,2004 The San people were a South African tribe who lived in the scrubland and communicated in a distinct click language During the nineteenth century they were labelled as sub human and hunted as animals by the Boers and the British sister in law Lucy Lloyd befriended some San bushmen and gradually began to document their language resulting in an extraordinary archive of material beautiful rock art and powerful fables The fables will run throughout the book

Postcolonial Nostalgias Dennis Walder,2010-11-17 This book offers an original and informed critique of a widespread yet often misunderstood condition nostalgia a pervasive human emotion connecting people across national and historical as well as personal boundaries Often seen as merely escapist nostalgia also offers solace and self understanding for those displaced by the larger movements of our time Walder analyses the writings of some of those entangled in the aftermath of empire tracing the hidden connections underlying their yearnings for a common identity and a homeland and their struggles to recover their histories Through a series of comparative reflections upon the representation in literary and related cultural forms of memory he shows how admitting the past into the present through nostalgia enables former colonial or diasporic subjects to gain a deeper understanding of the networks of power within which they are caught in the modern world and beyond which it may yet be possible to move Considering authors as varied as V S Naipaul J G Ballard Doris Lessing W G Sebald and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie as well as versions of Bushman song Walder pursues the often wayward ambiguous paths of nostalgia as it has been represented beyond but also within Europe so as to identify some of those processes of communal and individual experience that constitute the present and by implication the future
