Burren Country Paul Clements, 2011-05-14 For 20 years Paul Clements has been tapping into the Burren's hidden crevices drawn to its history, mystery and peculiarities. He writes absorbingly about the rocks, hills and walls and the range of colours, the animals he rubs shoulders with and about subjects which excite him such as the exotic wild flowers, ancient ruins, early morning birdsong and the smell of whiskey in historic pubs. A hunter and gatherer of information and lore on the Burren, the author ferrets out little-known facts and weaves them together to create these carefully distilled essays

Dictionary of Munster Women Writers 1800-2000 Tina O'Toole, 2005 This dictionary will make an important contribution to the knowledge of writing in Munster in both Irish and English over the past 200 years. The dictionary has entries on 560 writers including 220 in Irish. Each entry contains a bibliographical note, a list of key references and a bibliography where applicable. Advances literary and cultural as distinct from primarily historical research on the region of Munster over the last two centuries. Enables a new view as a whole of the work of women writers; juxtaposes the work of Irish, English language and bilingual writers and thereby helps to develop an understanding of the province of Munster as a diverse cultural milieu and focus on the role of regionality in the process of cultural creation. The Munster Women Writers Project based in the English Department at University College Cork was a recovery project aiming to make available the basic materials for biographical and literary research and analysis on the extensive number of women writers with Munster backgrounds or strong Munster connections in the period 1800-2000. The objective was to make more information on these writers available for future literary historians, feminist critics and social historians to develop knowledge and understanding of this material. By making available the basic materials for scholarly research in this field, the project aims to help generate critical analysis of the role of regional, class and gender factors in the formation of writers and the intersection of these factors in the nature of the work produced

are unlikely to ever again run between Ennis and Kilkee the legend of this little branch line of the southern railway system will live on as long as there are people who look back fondly on the past Anyone with even a superficial acquaintance with Clare will know what a wealth of varied scenery it contains together with abundant archaeological sites and historical remains spanning over 5 000 years of human habitation Not least of these are the earthworks of the West and South Clare Railways Eddie Lenihan believes that a time will come when parts of these lines will be preserved as national monuments but until that happens their destruction will continue For what was a railway is now a disjointed succession of pieces linking not just places but in a way two worlds one unhurried and traditional the other brash frenzied and modern In the Tracks of the West Clare Railway paints an evocative picture of a time when the railway breathed life into West Clare
