Kincheloe,1993-03-30 This book calls for a new type of teacher education that empowers teachers to be self directed professionals Joe Kincheloe believes that the current trend of teaching teachers to learn an empirical knowledge base which they then implement in their classrooms is demeaning to teachers and teaches them not to think He cites for example the emphasis on lesson plan format the writing of behavioral objectives and pre packaged activities One way to achieve thoughtful empowerment is through critical action research or teaching practitioner thinking The author illustrates the roots of his theory in Deweyan learning through action and in the more modern active learning approach He then applies Piagetian constructivism and critical hermeneutics to develop a post formal model of practitioner thought which he labels critical constructivism Kincheloe theorizes on the ways such a model would impact teaching and learning in a college of education Autonomous self reflective critical thinking teachers who take their profession seriously must understand the political consequences of this approach states the author as it will change the face of the school and elicit a backlash of
