Behavioral Neuroscience Of The Septal Region:

The Behavioral Neuroscience of the Septal Region Robert Numan, 2012-12-06 A review of our understanding of this area of the brain showing how it fits into the general picture of those areas concerned with modulating mammalian behavior The chapters all written by leading figures in behavioral neuroscience discuss the anatomy neurochemistry physiology and behavioral relations in the septal area Due to the great deal of current research shown in the related areas of hippocampus and the amygdala this book will be of great interest to all those who research the hippocampus and the amygdala in addition to the septum itself

Neurobehavioral Plasticity Norman E. Spear, Linda P. Spear, Michael L. Woodruff, 2013-06-17 This book describes a unique combination of research programs based on a striking variety of hypotheses and procedures directed toward understanding the sources and consequences of neurobehavioral plasticity This remarkable attribute of the nervous system to be pliable and capable of being shaped or formed by natural or artificial sources toward adaptation or maladaptation is considered in terms of the neurochemical forces and neuroanatomical structure that has been found to be pivotal for this function The impetus for this volume was a symposium held to honor Robert L Isaacson for his scientific and pedagogical achievements as well as his contributions to behavioral neuroscience Corresponding to his three major research interests the book is divided into three sections as follows the first explores the relationship between the limbic system and behavior with an emphasis on learning and memory the second considers through a wide range of approaches issues of plasticity in behavior and brain and the third deals with neural and chemical determinants of normal and abnormal behavior This volume is not only a fitting tribute to Isaacson but also an unusual collection of new evidence procedures and theories destined to have significant influence on behavioral neuroscience
