Being A Tourist Finding Meaning In Pleasure Travel:

Being a Tourist Julia Diane Harrison, 2003 What feeds the impulse to explore new horizons What makes travel meaningful In Being a Tourist Julia Harrison explores the motivations of a large group of middle class travelers to find out why people invest their financial emotional psychological and physical resources in this activity She suggests that they are fueled by several desires to find intimacy and connection to express a personal aesthetic to explore the idea of home and to make sense of a globalized world Engagingly and thoughtfully written for readers of travel writing tourism studies anthropology cultural studies and sociology Being a Tourist goes beyond current debates about authenticity and consumption to analyze the nuanced moral and political complexity of privileged travel

Positive Tourism Sebastian Filep, Jennifer Laing, Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi, 2016-10-04 Tourism affects millions of individuals numerous societies and environments in multiple nuanced and overlapping ways While it can be viewed as a frivolous leisure pursuit or simply a large industry with potentially destructive impacts it might also be understood in terms of its effects on human fulfilment the good life and greater well being This book calls for positive tourism principally grounded in theories from positive psychology the study of what makes life worth living and the development of a body of knowledge that explains what characterises optimal tourist experiences what enables host communities to flourish and what encourages workers in tourism to thrive Through original research studies reported in this international volume we aim to further develop this knowledge The intersections between ongoing and traditionally inspired applications of psychology in tourism and this new thrust in psychological inquiry promise to refresh and challenge tourism research This book will appeal to researchers and academics in tourism leisure positive psychology management and related fields as well as graduate students professionals and policy makers

Narratives of Travel and Tourism Jacqueline Tivers, Tijana Rakic, 2012 This book takes two broad themes as its starting point travellers and their narratives and place narratives in travel and tourism the book has a deliberately wide scope with different chapters addressing the subject through various relevant lenses and in relation to a number of different contexts The narratives discussed include both historical and contemporary as well as real life and fictional narratives contained within travel writing travel and tourism stories and different types of media

The Routledge Handbook of Religious and Spiritual Tourism
Daniel H. Olsen, Dallen J. directions in religious and spiritual tourism and proposes an agenda for further research Interdisciplinary in coverage and international in scope through its authorship and content this will be essential reading for all students researchers and academics interested in Tourism Religion Cultural Studies and Heritage Studies The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Tourism Melanie Smith, Greg Richards, 2013-01-17 The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Tourism explores and critically evaluates the debates and controversies in this field of Tourism It brings together leading specialists from a range of disciplinary backgrounds and geographical regions to provide state of the art theoretical reflection and empirical research on this significant stream of tourism and its future direction The book is divided into 7 inter related sections Section 1 looks at the historical philosophical and theoretical framework for cultural tourism This section debates tourist autonomy role play authenticity imaginaries cross cultural issues and inter disciplinary Section 2 analyses the role that politics takes in cultural tourism This section also looks at ways in which cultural tourism is used as a policy instrument for economic development Section 3 focuses on social patterns and trends such as the mobilities paradigm performativity reflexivity and traditional hospitality as well as considering sensitive social issues such as dark tourism Section 4 analyses community and development exploring adaptive forms of cultural tourism as well as more sustainable models for indigenous tourism development Section 5 discusses Landscapes and Destinations including the transformation of space into place issues of authenticity in landscape the transformation of urban and rural landscapes into tourism products and conservation versus development dilemmas Section 6 refers to Regeneration and Planning especially the creative turn in cultural tourism which can be used to avoid problems of serial reproduction standardisation and homogenisation Section 7 deals with The Tourist and Visitor Experience emphasising the desire of tourists to be more actively and interactively engaged in cultural tourism This significant volume offers the reader a comprehensive synthesis of this field conveying the latest thinking and research The text is international in focus encouraging dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and areas of study and will be an invaluable resource for all those with an interest in Cultural Tourism This is essential reading for students researchers and academics of Tourism as well as those of related studies in particular Cultural Studies Leisure Geography Sociology Politics and Economics

Selling British Columbia Michael Dawson, 2007-10-01 Selling British Columbia is an entertaining examination of the development of the tourist industry in British Columbia between 1890 and 1970 Michael Dawson argues that in order to understand the roots of the fully fledged consumer culture that emerged in Canada after the Second World War it is necessary to understand the connections between the 1930s 1940s and the postwar era Cultural producers such as tourism promoters and the state infrastructure played important roles in fostering consumer demand particularly during the Depression the Second World War and throughout the postwar era Dawson draws upon promotional pamphlets newspapers advertisements and films as well as archival sources regarding government civic and international tourism organizations Central to his book is an examination of the representation of popular imagery and of how aboriginal and British cultures

were commodified and marketed to potential tourists He also looks at the gendered aspect of these promotional campaigns particularly during the 1940s and challenges earlier interpretations regarding the relationship between tourism and nature in Canada Historians have tended to focus on either the first wave of consumerism from the 1880s to the 1920s or else on the era of economic expansion that followed World War Two As Dawson shows the 1930-45 period in particular was an important and dynamic one in the creation of Canadian and British Columbian consumer culture Michael Dawson's highly readable and engaging account of the development of the British Columbia tourist industry will be welcomed by British Columbian and Canadian historians as well as other scholars of tourism and consumerism

Tourism Discourse Crispin Thurlow, Adam Jaworski, 2010-02-24 Tourism Discourse offers new insights into the role of spoken written and visual discourse in representing and producing tourism as a global cultural industry With a view to the interplay between the symbolic and economic orders of global mobility the book is grounded in empirically based studies of key tourism genres
