Modernizing Tradition Adam C. Stanley, 2008-12-15 In the turbulent decades after World War I both France and Germany sought to return to an idealized prewar past Many people believed they could recapture a sense of order and stability by reinstating traditional gender roles which the war had thrown off balance While French and German women necessarily filled men's roles in factories and other jobs during the war those who continued to lead active working lives after World War I risked being called modern women Far from a compliment this derogatory label encompassed everything society found threatening about women's new place in public life smoking working women who preferred independence and sexual freedom to a traditional role in the home Society felt threatened by the image of the modern woman yet also realized that conceptions of femininity needed to accommodate the cultural changes brought about by the Great War In Modernizing Tradition Adam C Stanley explores how interwar French and German popular culture used commercial images to redefine femininity in a way that granted women some access to modern life without encouraging the assertion of female independence Examining advertisements articles and cartoons as well as department store publicity materials from the popular press of each nation Stanley reveals how the media attempted to convince women that with the help of newly available consumer goods such as washing machines refrigerators and vacuum cleaners being a mother or a housewife could be empowering even liberating A life devoted to the home these images promised need not be an unmitigated return to old fashioned tradition but could offer a rewarding lifestyle based on the wonders and benefits of modern technology Stanley shows that the media carefully limited women's association with modernity to those activities that reinforced women's traditional roles or highlighted their continued dependence on masculine guidance expertise and authority In this cross national study Stanley brings into sharp relief issues of gender and consumerism and reveals that despite the larger political differences between France and Germany gender ideals in the two countries remained virtually identical between the world wars That these concepts of gender stayed static over the course of two decades years when nearly every other aspect of society and culture seemed to be in constant flux attests to their extraordinary power as a force in French and German society

Food, Sex and Strangers Graham Harvey, 2014-09-11 Religion is more than a matter of worshipping a deity or spirit For many people religion pervades every part of their lives and is not separated off into some purely private and personal realm Religion is integral to many people's relationship with the wider world an aspect of their dwelling among other beings both human and other than human and something manifested in the everyday world of eating food having sex and fearing strangers Food Sex and Strangers offers alternative ways of thinking about what religion involves and how we might better understand it Drawing on studies of contemporary religions especially among indigenous peoples the book argues that religion serves to maintain and enhance human relationships in and with the larger than human world Fundamentally religion can be better understood through the ways we negotiate our lives than in affirmations of belief and it is best seen when people engage in intimate acts with themselves and others Swanzy's handbook of the diseases of the eye and their treatment Sir Henry Rosborough Swanzy,1915 Exilic Meditations Peyman Vahabzadeh,2012 The six reflections and conceptualizations of Exilic Mediations explore the relationship between exile and emigration the im possibility of return accent and foreignness multiculturalism and sovereignty trauma and memory and a life lived poetically in an unhomey world Situated subtly between reflections on personal experiences and post Heideggerian philosophy these exilic meditations show how a life lived as an exile enables a journey into the very concepts that we hold so dear to our hearts home belonging justice and the future Vahabzadeh wishes to find a place where the singular experiences of the exiles and emigrants can be heard This requires he argues a poetic life one of creative responses to the very conditions of injustice a life of making and crafting a new world Exilic Meditations calls for attending to the common wounds of the banished and marginalized displaced and abandoned exiles and refugees in these inhospitable times of ours

Enjoying the Song of Term: An Emotional Symphony within Being Elsewhere

In some sort of consumed by displays and the ceaseless chatter of instant transmission, the melodic beauty and psychological symphony created by the prepared word often disappear in to the back ground, eclipsed by the constant noise and disruptions that permeate our lives. However, nestled within the pages of Being Elsewhere a wonderful literary treasure filled with fresh feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by an elegant musician of language, that charming masterpiece conducts visitors on an emotional journey, skillfully unraveling the concealed tunes and profound impact resonating within each carefully constructed phrase.
