Being Humans Neil Roughley,2013-02-06 No detailed description available for Being Humans

Concepts of Humans and Nature in Historical Perspective Jochen Althoff,Alexander Pruß,2025-12-31 The Graduiertenkolleg 1876 in Mainz examined how concepts of humans and nature developed in the Middle East North Africa and Europe from 100 000 BC to the Middle Ages The aim of the conference papers collected in this volume is to study such fundamental components of concepts of humans and the natural environment that can be regarded as relatively universal across cultures The eight interdisciplinary contributions start with an article by the ethnologist Christoph Antweiler on the universality of world concepts in modern cultures One chapter explores possible concept formations in the early phases of human development This is followed by three philological archaeological contributions on concepts of the sea in the Near East as well as medical concepts and concepts of the human semen in the Near East and Egypt Two papers deal with concepts of the body in Greek antiquity as they can be derived from pictorial representations on Phlyax vases and with the category animal An article on the role of zoology in medieval German literature is closely connected In an epilogue the insights gained are summarized and an attempt is made to evaluate them with a view to the universality of the concepts dealt with

Theory in Social and Cultural Anthropology R. Jon McGee,Richard L. Warms,2013-08-28 Social and cultural anthropology and archaeology are rich subjects with deep connections in the social and physical sciences Over the past 150 years the subject matter and different theoretical perspectives have expanded so greatly that no single individual can command all of it Consequently both advanced students and professionals may be confronted with theoretical positions and names of theorists with whom they are only partially familiar if they have heard of them at all Students in particular are likely to turn to the web to find quick background information on theorists and theories However most web based information is inaccurate and or lacks depth Students and professionals need a source to provide a quick overview of a particular theory and theorist with just the basics the who what where how and why if you will In response SAGE Reference plans to publish the two volume Theory in Social and Cultural Anthropology An Encyclopedia Features Benefits Two volumes containing approximately 335 signed entries provide users with the most authoritative and thorough reference resource available on anthropology theory both in terms of breadth and depth of coverage To ease navigation between and among related entries a Reader s Guide groups entries thematically and each entry is followed by Cross References In the electronic version the Reader s Guide combines with the Cross References and a detailed Index to provide robust search and browse capabilities An appendix with a Chronology of Anthropology Theory allows students to easily chart directions and trends in thought and theory from early times to the present Suggestions for Further Reading at the end of each entry and a Master Bibliography at the end guide readers to sources for more detailed research and discussion

The Diversity of Morals Steven Lukes,2025-09-09 How to make sense of the divergence between philosophers quest for a single morality and social scientists assumption that there are multiple moralties When we speak of morals what are we speaking of Is morality singular as many philosophers tend to assume even if they don't agree on what it is or are there multiple moralities which social scientists notably anthropologists study In The Diversity of Morals Steven Lukes brings together these differing perspectives Drawing on philosophy sociology social anthropology psychology and political theory Lukes considers what the moral domain includes and what it excludes how what is moral differs from what is conventional or customary in different contexts whether morality is unified or a series of fragments and if there is a diversity of morals what that diversity consists of Lukes looks both ways toward philosophers quest for a single best answer to the question of morality and toward sociologists and anthropologists assumption that there are several even many even very many answers to make sense of their divergence He traces the two approaches back to their beginnings linking them to the differences between the ideas of David Hume Johann Gottfried Herder and Adam Smith Lukes examines how we went from viewing the social world as us versus them to thinking of morality as universal envisioning shared humanity and the sacredness of the human person and what prevents this vision from being realized Considering the breakdown of moral constraints in the perpetration of mass atrocities Lukes asks if there are phenomena that are beyond moral justification And he raises this crucial question in light of the vast variation that history and the ethnographic record display how wide and how deep is the diversity of morals

Our Common Denominator Christoph Antweiler,2016-04-01 Since the politicization of anthropology in the 1970s most anthropologists have been reluctant to approach the topic of universals that is phenomena that occur regularly in all known human societies In this volume Christoph Antweiler reasserts the importance of these cross cultural commonalities for anthropological research and for life and co existence beyond the academy The question presented here is how anthropology can help us approach humanity in its entirety understanding the world less as a globe with an emphasis on differences but as a planet from a vantage point open to commonalities

The Music between Us Kathleen Marie Higgins,2020-03-04 Higgins love of music and cultural variety is evident throughout She writes in a relaxed accessible sophisticated style Highly recommended Choice From our first social bonding as infants to the funeral rites that mark our passing music plays an important role in our lives bringing us closer to one another In this book philosopher Kathleen Marie Higgins investigates this role examining the features of human perception that enable music's uncanny ability to provoke despite its myriad forms across continents and throughout centuries the sense of a shared human experience Drawing on disciplines such as philosophy psychology musicology linguistics and anthropology Higgins's richly researched study showcases the ways music is used in rituals education work and healing and as a source of security and perhaps most importantly joy By participating so integrally in such meaningful facets of society Higgins argues music situates itself as one of the most fundamental bridges between people a truly cross cultural form of communication that can create solidarity across political divides Moving beyond the well worn takes on music's universality The Music between Us provides a new understanding of what it means to be musical and in turn human Those who like Higgins deeply love music actually know something about it have open minds and ears and are willing to look beyond the confines of Western aesthetics will find much to learn in The Music between Us Journal of Aesthetics and Art Criticism Exploring World Art Eric Venbrux, Pamela Sheffield Rosi, Robert Louis Welsch, 2006 Collection of articles by various authors including the editors Verbal Art Across Cultures Hubert Knoblauch, Helga Kotthoff, 2001 Frontiers of Transculturality in Contemporary Aesthetics Grazia Marchianò, Raffaele Milani, 2001 The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute, 2002 Articles on all aspects of anthropology Journal of the Anthropological Society of Oxford, 1999 Journal of Ecological Anthropology, 2013 Kant-Studien Hans Vaihinger, Max Scheler, Bruno Bauch, Max Frischeisen-Köhler, Arthur Liebert, Paul Menzer, 2001 1904 26 includes lists of members Frans M. Olbrechts, 1899-1958 Etnografisch Museum (Antwerp, Belgium), 2001 In conjunction with the exhibition Frans M Olbrechts in Search of Art in Africa held in the Antwerp Ethnographic Museum from 7 December 2001 to 31 March 2002 Eliminating Corporal Punishment Stuart N. Hart, Joan E. Durrant, Peter Newell, F. Clark Power, 2005 In at least 60 states corporal punishment remains an authorised part of the school system Research on corporal punishment has found it to be counter productive and relatively ineffective as well as harmful to physical psychological and social well being This publication clarifies the human rights aspects of this matter it includes the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child and provides the main steps to be considered in the process of eliminating corporal punishment It details practical steps for more constructive and effective child discipline practices

World Art Studies Kitty Zijlmans, Wilfried Van Damme, 2008 This timely volume challenges the narrow Western centrism of most art historical models Archeologists have found that for tens of thousands of years all human cultures have shared a desire for visual representation or expression Yet the study of art history has traditionally focused on Western artworks of the past few centuries World Art Studies examines the phenomenon of art through a broader cultural global and temporal perspective bringing together a uniquely exhaustive range of perspectives on art and borrowing approaches from the study of neuroscience evolutionary biology anthropology and geography as models alongside more conventional art historical perspectives In musicology or linguistics using such diverse viewpoints for reflection and research is considered part of the normal process In that spirit this volume goes beyond abstract models using case studies to demonstrate and examine specific methods of investigation BOOK JACKET JASO, 1999 Defining and Selecting Key Competencies Dominique Simone Rychen, Laura Hersh Salganik, 2001 What skills and competencies are needed for individuals to lead a successful and responsible life both in the workplace and in other social environments and for society to face the challenges of the present and future What are the foundations normative theoretical and conceptual for defining and selecting a limited set of key competencies These are among the important questions of considerable relevance for fields such as education and training employment social affairs and welfare health and justice that provided the starting point for an international and interdisciplinary endeavor carried out by the Swiss Federal Statistical Office and the National Center for Education Statistics

US Department of Education under the auspices of the Organization for Economic Co operation and Development OECD The current volume which has resulted from this work compiles essays from renowned scholars who explore these questions from multiple perspectives anthropology economics history philosophy psychology and sociology along with commentaries from leading representatives of policy and practice who provide an important complement to the reflection on key competencies This volume thus presents a multifaceted sketch of issues related to defining and selecting key competencies in an open still ongoing debate at national and international levels
