Vensus A. George

Belonging Together:

Belonging Together Patrick John Sullivan, 2011 Belonging Together describes current Indigenous affairs policy in Australia concentrating on the period since the end of ATSIC in 2004. It provides a unique overview of the trajectory of current policy with Sullivan advancing a new consolidated approach to Indigenous policy which moves beyond the debate over self-determination and assimilation. Instead, he suggests that the interests of Indigenous peoples, settlers, and immigrants are fundamentally shared and proposes adaptation on both sides but particularly for the descendants of settlers and immigrants to allow them to embrace the framing of their identity by Indigenous presence. Sullivan is also critical of the remote control of Indigenous lives from metropolitan centres with long lines of bureaucratic oversight that are inherently maladaptive and inefficient and he proposes regional measures for policy implementation and accountability. Belonging Together's empirical studies of current policy implementation advance the body of knowledge in the underdeveloped field of the anthropology of policy and public administration. Being and God Lorenz B. Puntel, Alan White, 2011. The main thesis of this book is that it is philosophically reasonable, intelligible, and appropriate to raise questions about God and to provide answers to those questions that are rational only within the framework of a conception of reality or being as a whole.

The Experience of Being as Goal of Human Existence Versus A. George, 2000

Being Together in Place Soren C. Larsen, Jay T. Johnson, 2017-11-01. Being Together in Place explores the landscapes that convene Native and non-Native people into sustained and difficult negotiations over their radically different interests and concerns. Grounded in three sites: the Cheslatta Carrier traditional territory in British Columbia, the Wakarusa Wetlands in northeastern Kansas, and the Waitangi Treaty Grounds in Aotearoa New Zealand, this book highlights the challenging, tentative, and provisional work of coexistence around such contested spaces as wetlands, treaty grounds, fishing spots, recreation areas, cemeteries, heritage trails, and traditional village sites. At these sites, activists learn how to articulate and defend their intrinsic and life-supportive ways of being, particularly to those who are intent on damaging or destroying these places. Using ethnographic research and a geographic perspective, Soren C. Larsen and Jay T. Johnson show how the communities in these regions challenge the power relations that structure the ongoing post-colonial encounter in liberal democratic settler states. Emerging from their conversations with activists was a distinctive sense that the places for which they cared had agency, a call that pulled them into dialogue, relationships, and action with human and nonhuman others. This being together in place they find speaks in a powerful way to the vitalities of coexistence where humans and nonhumans are working to decolonize their relationships where reciprocal guardianship is being stitched back together in new and unanticipated ways and where a new kind of place thinking is emerging on the borders of colonial power.

Phenomenology on Kant, German Idealism, Hermeneutics and Logic Thomas M. Seebohm, 2000-03-31. This volume comprises systematic as well as historical essays including contributions intended to give comprehensive overviews of such areas as genetic phenomenology, transcendental phenomenology, philosophy and history of logic and mathematics Kant hermeneutics Hegel and philosophy of language The book is addressed to phenomenologists particularly those who are interested in some or all of the areas mentioned In his introduction Joseph J Kockelmans indicates that these diverse areas enter into dialogue in the work of Thomas M Seebohm whom the editors and authors wish to honor and the systematic papers mirror the state of the art of research in the above mentioned disciplines

Death, Time and the Other Saitya Brata Das,2020-01-27 This book addresses the limits of metaphysics and the question of the possibility of ethics in this context It is divided into six chapters the first of which broadens readers understanding of difference as difference with specific reference to the works of Hegel The second chapter discusses the works of Emmanuel Levinas and the question of the ethical In turn the concepts of sovereignty and the eternal return are discussed in chapters three and four while chapter five poses the question of literature in a new way The book concludes with chapter six The book represents an important contribution to the field of contemporary philosophical debates on the possibility of ethics beyond all possible metaphysical and political closures As such it will be of interest to scholars and researchers in both the humanities and social sciences Beyond the academic world the book will also appeal to readers journalists intellectuals social activists etc for whom the question of the ethical is the decisive question of our time
