Collection of ICC Arbitral Awards The Evolution of International Arbitration Alec Stone Sweet, Florian Grisel, 2017-02-03
The development of international arbitration as an autonomous legal order comprises one of the most remarkable stories of institution building at the global level over the past century Today transnational firms and states settle their most important commercial and investment disputes not in courts but in arbitral centres a tightly networked set of organizations that compete with one another for docket resources and influence In this book Alec Stone Sweet and Florian Grisel show that international arbitration has undergone a self sustaining process of institutional evolution that has steadily enhanced arbitral authority This judicialization process was sustained by the explosion of trade and investment which generated a steady stream of high stakes disputes and the efforts of elite arbitrators and the major centres to construct arbitration as a viable substitute for litigation in domestic courts For their part state officials as legislators and treaty makers and national judges as enforcers of arbitral awards have not just adapted to the expansion of arbitration they have heavily invested in it extending the arbitral order s reach and effectiveness Arbitration s very success has nonetheless raised serious questions about its legitimacy as a mode of transnational governance The book provides a clear causal theory of judicialization original data collection and analysis and a broad relatively non technical overview of the evolution of the arbitral order Each chapter compares international commercial and investor state arbitration across clearly specified measures of judicialization and governance Topics include the evolution of procedures the development of precedent and the demand for appeal balancing in the public interest legitimacy debates and proposals for systemic reform This book is a timely assessment of how arbitration has risen to become a key component of international economic law and why its future is far from settled

Arbitrators as Lawmakers Dolores Bentolila, 2017-04-05 This book analyses how arbitrators make rules that guide constrain and define the process and substance of international arbitration Providing a thorough and multidisciplinary analysis of the actors process and outcome of arbitral lawmaking the study shows how arbitrators create principles of law through consistent arbitral decision making and through interacting with other members of the arbitral community This book investigates and responds to the following questions What is the relationship between international arbitration and the law and courts of the seat What is the role of international tribunals in assisting and controlling investment arbitration What is the scope of arbitrators freedom in decision making What constraints limit arbitrators decision making and contribute to consistency Is international arbitration capable of paying deference to past arbitral decisions Which rules have arbitrators created in procedural and substantive matters What is the role and status of consistent arbitral decisions Is there an arbitral legal system The answers to these questions are drawn from actual arbitral decisions made available to the public clarifying important issues about jurisdiction procedure applicable law interpretation of substantive rules and instruments and remedies This is the first overarching study of whether and to what extent international commercial and investment arbitrators create norms and even generate a legal system As such it will be of immeasurable and lasting value to arbitrators practitioners scholars arbitral institutions and international organizations worldwide for all of whom it will not only clarify our understanding of arbitral decision making and arbitrator made rules but also foster transparency and accountability in arbitral decision making Collection of ICC Arbitral Awards 2012 - 2015
