Before The War 1908 1939:

Hunters Point (Former) Naval Shipyard Disposal and Reuse, 2000      Food for War Alan F. Wilt, 2001-09-20 Food for War is a ground breaking study of Britain's food and agricultural preparations in the 1930s as the nation once again made ready for war. Historians writing about 1930s Britain have usually focused on the Depression, appeasement or political military and industrial concerns. None have dealt adequately with another significant topic: food and agriculture as the nation moved, albeit reluctantly, from peace to war. In this new account, Alan F. Wilt makes right this omission by examining in depth the relationship between food, agriculture and the nation's preparations for war. He reveals how food and agriculture became closely linked to rearmament as early as 1936, that the government's preparations in this sector, as contrasted with other areas of the economy, were relatively well developed when war broke out in 1936 and that rural and farm interests well understood the effect that war would have on their way of life. He argues that food and agriculture need to be integrated into the more general historical discourse for what happened in Britain in the 1930s, not only set the stage for World War II but also contributed to a more robust agriculture in the decades that followed.
