Bilingualism and Identity Mercedes Niño-Murcia,Jason Rothman,2008

Sociolinguists have been pursuing connections between language and identity for several decades. But how are language and identity related in bilingualism and multilingualism? Mobilizing the most current methodology, this collection presents new research on language identity and bilingualism in three regions where Spanish coexists with other languages: The cases are Spanish-English contact in the United States, Spanish indigenous language contact in Latin America, and Spanish regional language contact in Spain. This is the first comparativist book to examine language and identity construction among bi- or multilingual speakers while keeping one of the languages constant. The sociolinguistic standing of Spanish varies among the three regions depending on whether or not it is a language of prestige. Comparisons therefore afford a strong constructivist perspective on how linguistic ideologies affect bi-multilingual identity formation.

Language, Democracy, and Devolution in Catalonia Sue Wright, 1999. The issue of human rights becomes very complex when applied to language. Individual rights have little meaning in this domain. People do not ask for the right to speak to themselves; they ask for the right to use their language within their group. Where populations are heterogeneous, such rights are difficult to ensure. Language can be a powerful means of inclusion and exclusion, and this is particularly true in democratic societies where debate is central to the process. This book looks at these fundamental questions in the context of Catalonia.

Variation, Change, and Phonological Theory Frans L. Hinskens, Roeland van Hout, W. Leo Wetzels, 1997-12-11. There is a growing awareness that a fruitful cooperation between the diachronic and synchronic study of language variation and change and work in phonological theory is both possible and desirable. The study of language variation and change would benefit from this kind of cooperation on the conceptual and theoretical levels. Phonological theory may well profit from a greater use of what is commonly called external evidence. This volume contains contributions by outstanding representatives from the more data-oriented fields and phonological theory. They discuss possibilities and problems for a further integration of both areas by considering questions such as where and to which extent the two may need each other and whether there is a need for an interdisciplinary conceptual framework and methodology. Attention is also paid to questions regarding the cause and actuation of linguistic constraints and the internal spread of linguistic change, as well as to possible and impossible processes of language change.

Differential Object Marking in Romance Johannes Kabatek, Philipp Obrist, Albert Wall, 2021-11-22. After a first wave of traditional studies on prepositional accusatives and a second wave exploring the typological dimensions of Differential Object Marking in Bossong's footsteps, a new line of research is currently introducing new methods, deepening the level of analysis, and offering new perspectives on the issue. This volume presents 11 innovative original contributions representative of this third wave of studies on DOM in Romance.

Barcelones/as Andrew J. Deiser,2005 By examining four novels in this study I explore two important transitions in recent Spanish history the transition to democracy following the death of Francisco Franco in 1975 and the transformation of Spain from a modern to a postmodern society during the latter half of the twentieth century More concretely I analyze Terenci Moix s El dia que va morir Marilyn 1969 Montserrat Roig s El temps de les cireres 1977 Manuel V zquez Montalban s Los mares del Sur 1979 and Juan Mars s El amante biling e 1990 in relation to these historical changes I conduct a three tiered analysis for each novel First I look at how the novel responds to the political context in which it was published Second I examine how social conflict between Barcelona s upper and lower classes is inscribed into the novel s narrative Finally I explore how different narrative features of each novel reveal the historical shift to late capitalism This study demonstrates that each of these novels creates an imaginary Barcelona that responds to and is shaped by its political social economic and cultural surroundings Moreover when viewed as a whole these narratives show the emergence of a working class consciousness among the immigrants from southern Spain who migrated to Barcelona during the period that spanned from the early 1950s to the early 1970s While this working class consciousness largely remains below the surface of the narratives in El dia que va morir Marilyn and El temps de les cireres it stands at the forefront in Los mares del Sur and El amante biling e In addition this study demonstrates that when viewed together these novels reveal that the years surrounding the political transition from dictatorship to democracy in Spain are inextricably bound to the broader historical transition from modernity to postmodernity Papers from the Regional Meeting, Chicago Linguistic Society Chicago Linguistic Society. Regional Meeting,1979 Vols for 1985 issued in two parts pt 1 being the Papers from the regional meeting pt 2 being the papers of the Parasession Previous to 1985 the Parasession papers were issued as separately analyzed monographs Gender and Sexual Identities in Transition José Santaemilia,Patricia Bou,2008 The aim of this volume is to offer an international panorama of gendered and sexualised experiences with new and original data collected from a variety of cultural settings and sociopolitical contexts We look at many parts of the world Japan Sweden Poland Cyprus Spain US Australia Canada Hungary with different assumptions and expectations often revealing various research practices and traditions Gendered or sexualized discourses are unstable constructions in permanent transition in a perpetual struggle to gain social legitimacy and to counter the workings of opposite discourses They constitute privileged vantage points from which one can observe and judge power relationships New identities are created and reproduced refused and challenged This volume explores among other issues the perpetuation of hegemonic masculinity in Evangelical universities the pharmaceutical industry TM s promotion of biometaphors involving a shopping strategy which revolves around compulsory heterosexuality the perpetuation of Greek Cypriot men TM s sexual superiority over women the Catholic Church s attempt to impose a restrictive view of religion and of sexual ethics the consolidation of American TV shopping channels as a setting where middle class femininity and consumption are linked stereotypically the negotiation of gender and sex related norms in groups of British Bangladeshi girls Even heterosexuality as the unmarked form of sexual identity and the primary site for the reproduction of gender difference needs to reassert its normative and prescriptive status maybe through the silent workings of tradition By suggesting the concept of transition we resist seeing the idea of identity as a fixed and definitive category Gender and sexual identities are never at rest One is never finished developing into a woman or a man or any other gender sexual identity Contributors include Joan Pujolar Andrea Simon Maeda Allyson Jule Stina Ericsson Agnieszka Kie kiewicz Janowiak Joanna Pawelczyk N 3ra Schleicher Elli Doukanari Pilar Garc c s Conejos Lidia Tanaka Jos c Santaemilia and Pia Pichler Juan Timoneda John J.
