Counterfeit World:

Counterfeit Politics David Kelman, 2012-10-20 In Counterfeit Politics David Kelman reassesses the political significance of conspiracy theory. Traditionally political theory has sought to banish the paranoid style from the proper domain of politics. But if conspiracy theory lies outside the sphere of legitimate politics, why do these narratives continue to haunt political life? Counterfeit Politics accounts for the seemingly ineradicable nature of conspiracy theory by arguing that all political statements ultimately take the form of conspiracy theory. Through careful readings of works by Ernest Hemingway, Ricardo Piglia, Thomas Pynchon, Don DeLillo, Jorge Luis Borges, Ishmael Reed, Jorge Volpi, Rigoberta Menchú, and Angel Rama, Kelman demonstrates that conspiracy narratives bear witness to an illegitimate or counterfeit secret that cannot be fully recognized, understood, and controlled. Even though the secret is not authorized to speak, this silence is nevertheless precisely what gives the secret its force. Kelman goes on to suggest that all political statements, even those that do not seem paranoid, are constitutively illegitimate or counterfeit since they always narrate this unresolved play of legitimacy between an official or authorized plot and an unofficial or unauthorized plot, a complot. In short, Counterfeit Politics argues that politics only takes place as conspiracy theory.

Counterfeit World Daniel F. Galouye, 1964

The Intimate Universal William Desmond, 2016-11-29 William Desmond sees religion, art, philosophy, and politics as essential and distinctive modes of human practice, manifestations of an intimate universality that illuminates individual and social being. They are also surprisingly permeable phenomena, and by observing their relations, Desmond captures notes of a clandestine conversation that transforms ontology.

Godsends William Desmond, 2021-11-15 Godsends is William Desmond's newest addition to his masterwork on the borderlines between philosophy and theology. For many years, William Desmond has been patiently constructing a philosophical project replete with its own terminology, idiom, grammar, dialectic, and its metaxological transformation in an attempt to reopen certain boundaries between metaphysics and phenomenology, between philosophy of religion and philosophical theology, between the apocalyptic and the speculative, and between religious passion and systematic reasoning. In Godsends, Desmond's newest addition to his ambitious masterwork, he presents an original reflection on what he calls the companioning of philosophy and religion. Throughout the book, he follows an itinerary that has something of an Augustinian likeness, from the exterior to the interior, from the inferior to the superior. The stations along the way include a grappling with the default atheism prevalent in contemporary intellectual culture, an exploration of the middle space, the metaxu, between the finite and the infinite, a dwelling with solitudes as thresholds between selving and the sacred, a meditation on idiot wisdom and transcendence in an East-West perspective, an exploration of the different stresses in the mysticisms of Aurobindo and the Arnhem Mystical Sermons, a dream monologue of autonomy, a suite of Kantian and post-

Kantian variations on the story of the prodigal son a meditation on the beatitudes as exceeding virtue in light of Aquinas's understanding and culminating in an exploration of God's sends as telling us something significant about the surprise of revelation in word idea and story God's sends is written for thoughtful persons and scholars perplexed about the place of religion in our time and hopeful for some illuminating companionship from relevant philosophers It will also interest students of philosophy and religion especially philosophical theology and philosophical metaphysics How You See You Emerald Lewis, 2017-12-15 How You See You came to light from the love and words of our heavenly father through our Lord Jesus Christ He has blessed me with the gift of wisdom discernment and his love to share with one another knowing that we are many parts that make up one body Although our outward appearances are different we all bleed the same color within The breath of life is all we can take gradually day by day That is why we should pray and ask the Lord to provide us our daily bread and give us day by day to do his will God is love whoever lives in love lives in God and God in them Common Ground J.
