searchable text Evidence-Based Crime Prevention David P. Farrington, Doris Layton MacKenzie, Lawrence W. Sherman, Brandon C. Welsh, 2003-09-02 Crime prevention policy and practice is on the whole far from objective. Instead of being based on scientific evidence, the crime policy agenda is seemingly driven by political ideology, anecdotal evidence, and programme trends. Evidence Based Crime Prevention seeks to change this by comprehensively and rigorously assessing the existing scientific knowledge on the effectiveness of crime prevention programmes internationally. Reviewing more than 600 scientific evaluations of programmes intended to prevent crime in settings such as families, schools, labour markets, and communities, this book grades programmes on their scientific validity using the scientific methods scale. This collection, which brings together contributions from leading researchers in the field of crime prevention, will provide policy makers, researchers, and community leaders with an understandable source of information about what works, what does not work, and what is promising in preventing crime.

Communities Responding to the Challenge of Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention: Linking pregnancy prevention to youth development Claire D. Brindis, Laura Davis, 1998

Encyclopedia of Primary Prevention and Health Promotion Thomas P. Gullotta, Martin Bloom, 2003-01-31 Foundational topics such as history, ethics, and principles of primary prevention, as well as specific issues such as consultation, political issues, and financing. The second section addresses such topics as abuse, depression, eating disorders, HIV/AIDS, injuries, and religion and spirituality, often dividing such topics into separate entries addressing childhood, adolescence, and adulthood.

Forensic Psychology Graham J. Towl, David A. Crighton, 2010-01-29 A comprehensive overview of forensic psychology as it applies to the civil and criminal justice systems in the UK, which draws on the international evidence base with contributions from leading international experts. Designed to cover the British Psychological Society training syllabus in forensic psychology, meeting the needs of postgraduate students. Chapters are each written by leading international experts and provide the latest research and evidence-based practice for students. Ideal for qualified practitioners as a resource for continuing professional development. The text is written in a style designed to support and direct students and includes specific learning aids and guides to further study. Linked to an online site providing additional learning materials offering further aid to students.

Social Youth Entrepreneurship Melvin Delgado, 2004-05-30 Youth policies in the United States, especially for economically and socially disadvantaged children, are often characterized as fragmented, inadequate, antiquated, misguided, and at worst negligent or even harmful. The primary systems mandated to serve youth often coexist as if in parallel universes, often at odds with each other regarding goals, priorities, and resources. To address these deep-seated problems and propose a dynamic alternative, Delgado applies extensive field research and insights from economics, urban studies, social work, and psychology to introduce a new paradigm: social youth entrepreneurship. This approach to youth and community development integrates education, work experience, and counseling to create economic opportunities and prepare today's youth for tomorrow's challenges. A popular dictum states that our children are our future. Nevertheless, youth policies in the United States especially for economically and socially disadvantaged children are often characterized as fragmented inadequate antiquated misguided and at worst negligent or even harmful The primary systems mandated to serve youth often coexist as if in parallel universes often at odds with each other regarding goals priorities and resources To address these deep seated problems and propose a dynamic alternative Delgado applies insights from a variety of fields including economics urban studies social work and psychology to introduce a new paradigm social youth entrepreneurship Drawing from extensive field research and showcasing the experiences of several innovative programs including Food from the Hood in Los Angeles and Young Aspirations Young Artists in New Orleans Delgado outlines an approach to youth and community development that integrates education work experience and counseling The positive results include motivating young people to sharpen their analytical and interpersonal skills inspiring them to contribute to their communities and preparing them to become productive members of the workforce Meanwhile Delgado offers practical recommendations for educators community leaders local businesses and policymakers alike to support such programs

None of Our Business Crystal M. England,2003 At last an insider s look at the insidious intrusion of corporate interests into American classrooms Former middle school principal Crystal England makes it perfectly clear that schooling as business is no schooling at all When bottom lines are more important than developing minds then students families and teachers pay and pay big Her book examines the assertion and assumption that with more front end management and an increasingly open market schools could experience the success of corporations an assertion that begs the real questions Is education an art or an industry What matters most product or process In each of her seven chapters England explores exactly how and why the school business model does not and cannot work She addresses such issues as expectations marketing standards the education audience assessment nontraditional environments and choice legislation Balancing practical wisdom with current research England makes a consistently strong case against what amounts to assembly line education using the business model Quality principles sound marketing and other basic business tenets might mold products But in the complicated community of diversity that is today s classroom it is the individual teacher who creates harmony out of chaos and ensures real learning despite threats and ultimatums
