Among The People Native Yugoslav Ethnography:

Among the People Milenko S. Filipovic, Radmila Fabijanic-Filipovic, 1982 Among the People, Native Yugoslav Ethnography Milenko S. Filipović, 1982 Among the people Milenko S. Filipović, 1982 Studying Peoples in the People's Democracies II Vintila Mihailescu, Ilia Iliev, Slobodan Naumovic, 2008

Bulgaria and Serbia during socialism are outlined from many different points of view in this volume Beyond local and personal trajectories the authors illuminate more general and comparative questions Was there anything like a socialist anthropology common to all three countries Did Soviet and or Marxist influences in the discipline and in society in general penetrate so deeply as to form an unavoidable common denominator of anthropological practice The answers turn out to be complex and subtle While unifying ideological forces were very strong in the 1950s diversity increased thereafter Anthropology was entangled with national ideology in all three countries but the evidence nonetheless calls for polyphonic interpretations

Balkan Life Courses. Part 1 Klaus Roth, Milena Benovska, 2018 The historical upheavals in Southeast Europe since the early 20th century brought about deep transformations of people's everyday lives and their life courses The concept of life course enables the understanding of human lives within their socio cultural and political contexts stressing agency and people's everyday experience Balkan contexts invite for analyses that bridge political and social changes and their influence on individual life courses The papers discuss problems such as family life and parenthood ages and ageing life cycle rituals and the artistic expressions devoted to them The authors present manifestations of the social differentiation and cultural multiplicity under post socialist or post colonial conditions from developing contemporary global life styles among the emerging urban middle class to the ghettoization of some social or age groups This volume focusses on developing family cultures on experiencing socialization and age on old and new life cycle rituals and their artistic representations in contemporary Southeast Europe

The Past in Question Keith Brown, 2018-06-05 This book examines the relationship between national history identity and politics in twentieth century Macedonia It focuses on the reverberating power of events surrounding an armed uprising in August 1903 when a revolutionary organization challenged the forces of the Ottoman Empire by seizing control of the mountain town of Krusevo A century later Krusevo is part of the Republic of Macedonia and a site for yearly commemorations of 1903 In the course of the intervening hundred years various communities have vied to establish an authoritative account of what happened in 1903 and to weave those events into a longer and wider narrative of social cultural and national evolution Keith Brown examines how Krusevo's residents refugees and exiles have participated along with scholars journalists artists bureaucrats and politicians in a conversation about their vexed past By tracing different approaches to understanding commemorating and narrating the events of 1903 he shows how in this small mountain town the magic of nationalism by which destiny is written into particular historical events has neither failed nor wholly succeeded Stories of heroism self sacrifice and unity still rub against tales of treachery score settling and disaster as people come to terms with the legacies of imperialism socialism and nationalism The efforts of Krusevo's successive generations to transcend a past of intercommunal violence reveal how rival claims to knowledge and truth acquire vital significance during rapid social economic and political change

Edita Schubert: Profusion David Crowley, 2025-12-17 This book is the first major study of Edita Schubert's art published outside Croatia Edita Schubert's body of work is strikingly diverse spanning pioneering explorations of natural ecology in the 1970s to bold paintings in the spirit of the transavantgarde in the 1980s She also created performance art on the streets of Dubrovnik and created installations that invited viewers into her world Her later works self portraits of various kinds offer profound meditations on memory identity and mortality Working in her studio in the Institute of Anatomy in Zagreb she once compared her art with the practice of dissection a precise and purposeful science which reveals the hidden territories of the human body Often her subject was herself The breadth of her artistic output seems to anticipate the post medium condition of contemporary art Yet when viewed together strong lines of connection and continuity emerge revealing a deeply intimate and single minded vision of art Edita Schubert 1947-2001 was an exceptionally prolific and inventive artist active from the early 1970s until her untimely death at the age of 54 in 2001 A significant figure in Croatian and Yugoslav art she exhibited at the Venice Biennale and the Biennale of Sydney and in galleries in Austria and the US as well as frequently throughout Yugoslavia Yet today her art remains relatively little known

Auto/ethnography Deborah Reed-Danahay, 2021-01-07 In departing from the traditional stance taken by anthropologists who study others ethnographically this timely book explores forms of self inscription on the part of both the ethnographer and those others who are studied Informed by developments in postmodernism postcolonialism and feminism this is an original contribution to the growing dialogue across disciplinary boundaries The chapters build upon recent reconsiderations of the uses and meaning of personal narrative to examine the ways in which selves and social forms are culturally constituted through biographical genres Ethnic autobiography self reflexivity in ethnography and native ethnography raise provocative questions about a range of issues for the contemporary scholar authenticity of voice ethnographic authority and the degree to which autoethnography constitutes resistance to hegemonic bodies of discourse Examined here in a variety of cultural and political contexts writing about the self offers challenging insights into the construction and transformation of identities and cultural meanings
