The Art of Teaching Art Deborah A. Rockman, 2000-11-09 Often the finest artists do not make the best teachers Many frustrated college students of art know this all too well as they suffer through unstructured classes with inexperienced teachers or graduate student instructors In these situations it is easy to blame the teachers But the problem is largely institutional most students graduating with MFAs from art schools receive little if any instruction in teaching art If you find yourself in this predicament as teacher or student this book is for you The first book to provide a comprehensive guide for teaching college level art The Art of Teaching Art is the culmination of respected artist and instructor Deborah Rockman s two decades of teaching experience Believing that drawing is the backbone of all of the visual arts she begins with a complete explanation of drawing concepts that apply to any subject matter e g composition sighting processes scaling techniques and methods for linear and tonal development She then illustrates these concepts with step by step methods that easily translate to classroom exercises Next she applies the drawing principles to every artist s most important and challenging subject the human figure After an extended section on understanding and teaching perspective that explores illusionistic form and space the focus of the book shifts to the studio classroom itself and the essential elements that go into making an effective learning environment and curriculum From preparing materials lists and syllabi to setting up still lifes handling difficult classroom situations critiquing and grading student artworks and shooting slides of student artworks she leaves no stone unturned

Horizon John Neylon,Greg Johns,2002 HORIZON GREG JOHNS SCULPTURES 1970 2002 traces the ideas and career of the Adelaide based artist from his first commission in the late 1970s through to participation in recent exhibitions in New York and Bahrain The story is told by noted Adelaide writer and art critic John Neylon of the Art Gallery of South Australia His text examines all aspects of the artist s development as a creator of large scale public sculptures and explains the philosophy that has shaped the work The reader is led through a rich array of ideas and images relating to the use of sculptural form as a language in which the works serve as metaphors for the human psyche and the natural cosmic systems that define our world A number of key sculptures are examined in detail as are issues surrounding public art and its reception within the community The processes of commissioning creating and installing the sculptures are described along with intimate glimpses into the creation of each work as it proceeds from the artist s studio to the engineering works where it is fabricated and then on to its intended site

Horizons ,2019-03-24 Horizons art as a transforming journey is a narrative tracing a three decade trajectory of an artist s professional and personal life with over 100 images In an introductory essay art critic and historian Adam Dutkiewicz states that Helen Stacey finds inspiration in the landscape it becomes a metaphor for human experience and spiritual and creative quest The artist Helen Stacey writes My book takes the reader on an unexpected journey from the Australian desert to Beijing after the Tienamen Square event in 1989 then farm life to swinging 60s Adelaide the Riverland and a career shift from art teaching to art making leading me to visit and work in remote areas in five states The narrative moves from the flourishing 1980s to the 1990s recession requiring fresh initiatives resulting in the artist engaging in cross cultural projects and or exhibiting in London Switzerland Poland

Russia Thailand Malaysia Fiji and Vanuatu She describes how creative will enables her creative engagement with social justice concerns and cross cultural collaborations which are often explored in the context of the land with a spiritual perspective The family art gene women artists women in arts leadership and shifting cultural attitudinal change are also explored Descriptive passages tell of engaging with a dingo apostle birds spiritually charged environments colourful characters and risky solo adventures At the launch of the book and her retrospective exhibition at the Royal South Australian Society of Arts in March 2019 she remarked that we are all on our transforming journeys and we each trust that our contribution will be part of the bigger project of transforming the world for the better She affirms that The purpose of this book is to encourage others to embark on fresh directions in life

Horizons, the Poetics and Theory of the Intermedia Dick Higgins, 1984 Written for the lay reader as well as for academic literary theorists this book bridges the gulf between the artistic avant garde in music visual arts and experimental literature and the general public Higgins delves into multiple areas but here is an example of one kind of poem he works with those pieces that move like thisthose pieces i say are snowflakes i saythose pieces that move like thisthose pieces Along with many other artists John Cage Merce Cunningham Robert Rauschenberg and Jackson Mac Low come to mind Dick Higgins has investigated and invented a variety of genres and forms working especially in intermedia the fusion of two or more discrete media His poetics travel some distance from the poetry of the past Here he uses the fusion of the receiver s and the artist s horizons their knowledge feelings experiences and imaginings to provide a vivid account of artistic experimentation over the last thirty years

Thinking Art Antoon van den Braembussche, 2009-09-29 In the twentieth century avant garde movements have pushed the concept of art far beyond its traditional boundaries In this dynamical process of constant renewal the prestige of thinking about art as a legitimizing practice has come to the fore So it is hardly surprising that the past decades have been characterized by a revival or even breakthrough of philosophy of art as a discipline However the majority of books on aesthetics fail to combine a systematical philosophical discourse with a real exploration of art practice Thinking Art attempts to deal with this traditional shortcoming It is indeed not only an easily accessible and systematic account of the classical modern and postmodern theories of art but also concludes each chapter with an artist s studio in which the practical relevance of the discussed theory is amply demonstrated by concrete examples Moreover each chapter ends with a section on further reading in which all relevant literature is discussed in detail Thinking Art provides its readers with a theoretical framework that can be used to think about art from a variety of perspectives More particularly it shows how a fruitful cross fertilization between theory and practice can be created This book can be used as a handbook within departments of philosophy history of art media and cultural studies cultural history and of course within art academies Though the book explores theories of art from Plato to Derrida it does not presuppose any acquaintance with philosophy from its readers It can thus be read also by artists art critics museum directors and anyone interested in the meaning of art
