Voices of the Poor in Africa Elizabeth Allo Isichei, 2004 An ambitious new approach to African studies utilizing indigenous sources to bring back the voices of the native Africans in their own words rather than that of colonizers and foreigners Elizabeth Isichei explores the Atlantic slave trade as reflected in the poetics of rumour and the poetics of memory an approach different from the quantitative and demographic studies which have transformed the subject over the past twenty years To this and to her study of popular consciousness in the colony and postcolony she brings together a wide range of disciplines ethnography art and art history and contemporary literary theory among them to look at the intellectual history of Africa from African rather than European premises The result is a history of popular consciousness which shows the experiences of ordinary people often in protest to an ongoing experience of exploitation Elizabeth Isichei is Professor of Religious Studies Otago University Dunedin New Zealand and author of over a dozen books on African history and religion She holds an Oxford doctorate and a D Litt from the University of Canterbury and is a fellow of the Royal Society N Z The Journey Home Cathie Dunsford, 1997-02-28 The Journey Home follows Cowrie through her passions for life love food and challenge Peopled by a diverse array of characters Benny the outrageous film maker Peta who Cowrie falls in love with and the student DK who has a few things to learn Torn between her newly made friendships in California and her roots in her homeland Cowrie discovers that there is a price to pay for exile even when it's voluntary

New Fiction in English from Africa: West, East, and South André Viola, Jacqueline Bardolph, Denise Coussey, 2022-05-20 The term recent or new covers novels and some short fiction published between 1980 and 1995 a period characterized by growing pessimism about the state of affairs in both East and West Africa The section on South Africa deals more narrowly with the 1985-95 watershed marking the end of official apartheid and the beginning of reconstruction The three sections aim at giving a coherent picture of the main directions in production highlighting three main centres of interest Nigeria Kenya and the Republic of South Africa although some novelists from neighbouring countries are also considered such as Kofi Awoonor from Ghana Nuruddin Farah from Somalia and M G Vassanji and Abdulrazak Gurnah from Tanzania The evaluations conducted in the three sections lead to the emergence of a number of common themes in particular the writers' predilection for topicality the role of the past and the controversy over the idea of the nation Central themes also include the role of women in feeding for themselves both in rural and in urban environments A further major theme is the role of the past the Nigerian civil war the Mau Mau period in Kenya the revisiting of slavery the refurbishing of myth the questioning of historical reconstructions The preoccupation of the West East and South African novel with the idea and ideal of the nation is explored particularly in the context of migrancy hybridity and transculturalism characterizing the anglophone diaspora The volume is aimed at literary scholars and students and more generally readers of fiction seeking an introduction to contemporary literary developments in various parts of sub-Saharan anglophone Africa No categorical distinction is drawn between popular and high literature Though still selective and not intended as an exhaustive catalogue the present survey covers a large number of titles Rather than resorting to broad and ultimately somewhat abstract thematic categories the contributors endeavour to keep control over this mass of material by applying a micro thematic taxonomy This approach well tested in the tradition of literary studies within France groups works analytically and evaluatively in terms of such categories as actional motifs plot frames and sociologically relevant locations or topics thereby enabling a clearer focus on the dynamics of preoccupation and tendency that form networks of affinity across the fiction produced in the period surveyed

Bearing Witness Wendy Griswold, 2018-06-05 Greed frustrated love traffic jams infertility politics polygamy These together with depictions of traditional village life and the impact of colonialism made familiar to Western readers through Chinua Achebe's writing are the stuff of Nigerian fiction Bearing Witness examines this varied content and the determined people who against all odds write publish sell and read novels in Africa's most populous nation Drawing on interviews with Nigeria's writers publishers booksellers and readers surveys and a careful reading of close to 500 Nigerian novels from lightweight romances to literary masterpieces Wendy Griswold explores how global cultural flows and local conflicts meet in the production and reception of fiction She argues that Nigerian readers and writers form a reading class that unabashedly believes in progress rationality and the slow but inevitable rise of a reading culture But they do so within a society that does not support their assumptions and does not trust literature making them modernists in a country that is simultaneously premodern and postmodern Without privacy reliable electricity political freedom or even social toleration of bookworms these Nigerians write and read political satires formula romances war stories complex gender fiction blood and sex crime capers nostalgic portraits of village life and profound explorations of how decent people get by amid urban chaos Bearing Witness is an inventive and moving work of cultural sociology that may be the most comprehensive sociological analysis of a literary system ever written

Manawa Toa Cathie Dunsford, 2000-01-01 Cowrie boards a ship bound for Moruroa Atoll during the French nuclear tests She is in for a rough ride As international attention is focused on the Pacific and the environment the stakes rise She is joined by Sahara a young peace activist from England and Marie Louise a French nuclear physicist But can they be trusted Can anyone be trusted With sensuous writing and a deep knowledge of the traditions the reader can feel the rock of the sea taste the food and fear the attacks on the peace flotilla as it approaches Moruroa Atoll Dive into a luscious feast of language and imagery
