Amoureuse Colette:

Colette's Republic Patricia A. Tilburg, 2009 In France's Third Republic secularism was for its adherents a new faith a civic religion founded on a rabid belief in progress and the Enlightenment conviction that men and women could remake their world And yet with all of its pragmatic smoothing over of the supernatural edges of Catholicism the Third Republic engendered its own fantastical ways of seeing by embracing observation corporeal dynamism and imaginative introspection How these republican ideals and the new national education system of the 1870s and 80s the structure meant to impart these ideals shaped belle poque popular culture is the focus of this book The author reassesses the meaning of secularization and offers a cultural history of this period by way of an interrogation of several fraught episodes which although seemingly disconnected shared an attachment to the potent moral and aesthetic directives of French republicanism a village's battle to secularize its schools a scandalous novel a vaudeville hit featuring a nude celebrity and a craze for female boxing Beginning with the writer and performer Colette 1873 1954 as a point of entry this re-evaluation of belle poque popular culture probes the startling connections between republican values of labor and physical health on the one hand and the cultural innovations of the decades preceding World War I on the other French Women Writers Eva Martin Sartori, Dorothy Wynne Zimmerman, 1994-01-01 Marie de France Mme De Saligny and Mme De Lafayette achieved international reputations during periods when women in other European countries were able to write only letters translations religious tracts and miscellaneous fragments There were obstacles but French women writers were more or less sustained and empowered by the French culture Often unconventional in their personal lives and occupied with careers besides writing as educators painters actresses preachers salon hostesses labor organizers these women did not wait for Simone de Beauvoir to tell them to make existential choices and have projects in the world French Women Writers describes the lives and careers of fifty-two literary figures from the twelfth century to the late twentieth All the contributors are recognized authorities Some of their subjects like Colette and George Sand are celebrated and others are just now gaining critical notice From Christine de Pizan and Marguerite de Navarre to Rachilde and Hélène Cixous from Louise Labé to Marguerite Duras these women speak through the centuries to issues of gender sexuality and language French Women Writers now becomes widely available in this Bison Book edition Discourse Dynamics Sara Sanchez, 2010-09-13 This volume presents a reasoned study of the discourse connectives of attainment of the French language For the most part the studies on connectives are based on referentialist descriptive frameworks which are sustained more or less explicitly on what we have called the general problem of causality the epistemological foundation of a scientific paradigm which has been used for centuries but which in our opinion is now outdated In the first place we have submitted this old paradigm to critical debate showing the limits of its scientific validity Next we have placed ourselves in a non-referentialist linguistic framework the Theory of Argumentation in the Language System developed by the French linguist Oswald Ducrot in which we have formulated a new descriptive proposal for discourse connectives taking into account both the argumentative configuration and the polyphonic configuration of each of the discourse dynamics generated around a given connective We have described the argumentative configuration in terms of semantic blocks and the polyphonic configuration in terms of discourse algorithms original and innovative heuristic instruments with which we attempt to stimulate a new approach to language more in line with the general scientific approaches of the 21st century and with the new scientific paradigm which is currently valid An Encyclopedia of
