Constructing Democracy:

Engaging the Community in Decision Making Roz Diane Lasker, John A. Guidry, 2009-03-23 In recent years the rapidly growing field of community participation has promised to give people formerly excluded from decision making an influential voice about issues that affect their lives Inclusive processes implemented in the United States and internationally have certainly given community members new opportunities to participate and be involved but how effective are these processes in promoting the voice and influence of the people who have historically been excluded the most the poorest least educated and most marginalized residents in communities Of the various participants who have a seat at the table whose voices are influential whose aren't and why This book summarizes how five community partnerships working with a team of researchers attempted to answer these critical questions Investigating 10 cases two from each community partnership the study tracks the ideas of everyone involved and reveals how and why the ideas of marginalized and ordinary residents were far less likely to be influential than those of people with more clout resources or acknowledged expertise Finally the authors explain how and why these influence inequities can be overcome providing readers with practical evidence based tools to help them do so The book should be helpful to readers involved in any form of active community participation from participatory research to civic engagement deliberative democracy and community initiatives Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Consolidating the Third Wave Democracies Larry Diamond, 1997-09-08 An in depth analysis of the struggle to consolidate new and fragile democracies available in two paperback volumes for course use The global trend that Samuel P Huntington has dubbed the third wave of democratization has seen more than 60 countries experience democratic transitions since 1974 While these countries have succeeded in bringing down authoritarian regimes and replacing them with freely elected governments few of them can as yet be considered stable democracies Most remain engaged in the struggle to consolidate their new and fragile democratic institutions Consolidating the Third Wave Democracies provides an in depth analysis of the challenges that they face Consolidating the Third Wave Democracies is available in two paperback volumes each introduced by the editors and organized for convenient course use The first paperback volume Themes and Perspectives addresses issues of institutional design civil military relations civil society and economic development It brings together some of the world's foremost scholars of democratization including Robert A Dahl Samuel P Huntington Juan J Linz Guillermo O'Donnell Adam Przeworski Philippe C Schmitter and Alfred Stepan The second paperback volume Regional Challenges focuses on developments in Southern Europe Latin America Russia and East Asia particularly Taiwan and China It contains essays by leading regional experts including Yun-han Chu P Nikiforos Diamandouros Thomas B Gold Michael McFaul Andrew J Nathan and Hung-mao Tien Constructing Democracy in Transitioning Societies of Africa S. Constructing Democracy in Southern Europe Lauren M. McLaren, 2008-04-08 Why are some regimes democratic while others are not Specifically how have Spain and Italy managed to become democratic while Turkey which shares many similar characteristics has not Spain Italy and Turkey have shared common historical features which would have been disruptive to any new democracy however they represent a wide array of democratization experiences Providing a comparative case study analysis this book offers some clues as to the reasons for successful transitions to democracy This is done through a range of variables which include the degree of stateness problems learning from previous experiences with democracy and authoritarianism economic development the procedures used for designing the new rules of the regime the existence or absence of civil society and the connection between society and political institutions the democratic rules themselves the professionalization of the military the influence of external factors on democratic consolidation By examining these variables across the three countries Lauren McLaren narrows the range of possible explanations for differences in democratic consolidation The book will be of particular interest to students and researchers of European Politics and Democratization Studies Making Democracy Fun Josh A.
