

How do Environmental changes affect Organisms?

Drag the correct definition to the type of succession.

Primary succession

This type of succession occurs where an ecosystem has been disturbed, but the soil is still present like after a fire.

Secondary succession

This type of succession is how bare rock can change into an ecosystem.

Steps in Primary succession

Drag the correct stage to the left and put them in sequence.

1

Soil becomes thicker, and bigger plants start to grow.

2

Dust settles in cracks in the rocks.

3

Trees start to grow and an ecosystem begins.

4

Pioneer species break down the rock, producing soil.

5

These species die, and their litter decays adding nutrients to the soil.

6

Soil develops, and plants like mosses begin to grow, which produces more soil.
