Changing Veils:

Changing Veils Carla Makhoul, 2016-10-04 In Yemen where current poverty is combined with a rich cultural heritage the distinctions between the traditional and the modern are particularly difficult First published in 1979 this is a study of social change as experienced and perceived by the women of Sana'a the capital city of North Yemen It presents a synthesised view of the process of change rather than focusing on the issues of exploitation and emancipation and draws upon observations of women's daily routine and ritual activities as well as the media and the provocative insights of Yemeni poets The veil is the focus of the study because it can be seen as a symbol of the contradictions inherent in Yemeni society not just about the female but also about all social relations It can be interpreted as both an instrument of oppression and the incitement of liberation and is thus illustrative of deep cultural ambiguities This book will be of interest to those studying women gender Islam the Middle East and anthropology

Rethinking Muslim Women and the Veil Katherine Bullock, 2007-01-01 Until now the bulk of the literature about the veil has been written by outsiders who do not themselves veil This literature often assumes a condescending tone about veiled women assuming that they are making uninformed decisions choices about veiling makes them subservient to a patriarchal culture and religion Rethinking Muslim Women and the Veil offers an alternative viewpoint based on the thoughts and experiences of Muslim women themselves This is the first time a clear and concise book length argument has been made for the compatibility between veiling and modernity Katherine Bullock uncovers positive aspects of the veil that are frequently not perceived by outsiders Rethinking Muslim Women and the Veil looks at the colonial roots of the negative Western stereotype of the veil It presents interviews with Muslim women to discover their thoughts and experiences with the veil in Canada The book also offers a positive theory of veiling The author argues that in consumer capitalist cultures women can find wearing the veil a liberation from the stifling beauty game that promotes unsafe and unhealthy ideal body images for women This book also includes an extensive bibliography on topics related to Muslim women and the veil

The Corinthian Body Dale B. Martin, 1999-01-01 Annotation In this intriguing discussion of Paul's first letter to the Corinthians Dale Martin contends that Paul's various disagreements with the Corinthians were the result of a fundamental conflict over the ideological construction of the human body and hence the church as the body of Christ This led to differing opinions on a variety of theological viewpoints including the role of rhetoric and philosophy in a hierarchical society the eating of meat sacrificed to idols prostitution sexual desire and marriage and the resurrection of the body Book
