Assessment in Higher Education brings together in one place most of the major issues confronting higher education in the 1990s. These include enhancing student access, development and success in higher education, transforming admissions testing to meet expanding educational needs, resolving the politics of accountability by assessing quality outcomes of higher education, assuring fair assessment responsive to human diversity and facing the technological future of higher education. An integrative thread that weaves through all of these issues is the concept of equity, especially as it bears on social justice in education and on fairness in assessment. Another integrative thread is the role of computer and multimedia technology, not only in improving the efficiency and power of all the functions of higher education assessment but also in revolutionizing the delivery of higher education itself.

Policy Issues in Employment Testing Linda C. Wing, Bernard R. Gifford, 2012-12-06. Linda C. Wing and Bernard R. Gifford: How should a society committed to the ideas of individual merit, equal opportunity and the free marketplace allocate scarce educational and employment opportunities? How can that society draw distinctions fairly and justifiably among people competing against each other for the same opportunity? These are among the central questions of a democracy. How a society answers them reveals a great deal about its values and its priorities and determines a great deal about its future course. In recent decades we have placed the standardized pencil and paper test at the center of these fundamental questions about the nature of opportunity allocation in American life. In more and more areas of our lives—schools, employment, the military—we rely upon the standardized test to rank or classify people and to assure ourselves that we have done so fairly The papers gathered here were prepared at the invitation of the National Commission on Testing and Public Policy The editors of this volume were involved in the commission from its inception in 1987 until shortly after the publication of its major public report in 1990 Bernard Gifford as Chair and Linda Wing as Associate Director 1 Each chapter focuses on an aspect of employment testing a topic that could hardly 1 POLICY ISSUES IN EMPLOYMENT TESTING 2 be more in need of calm deliberation and reasoned discussion than it is today The Changing Face of Professional Education Australian Association for Research in Education.
