Challenge Response A Study Of Famines:

Challenge and Response K. D. Gangrade,1973 Famines During the 'Little Ice Age' (1300-1800) Dominik Collet,Maximilian Schuh,2017-08-01 This highly interdisciplinary book studies historical famines as an interface of nature and culture It will bring together researchers from the natural and social sciences as well as the humanities With reference to recent interdisciplinary concepts disaster studies vulnerability studies environmental history it will examine how the dominant opposition of natural and cultural factors can be overcome Such an integrated approach includes the archives of nature as well as archives of man It challenges deterministic models of human environment interaction and replaces them with a dynamic historicising approach As a result it provides a fresh perspective on the entanglement of climate and culture in past societies Famine-risk and Famine Prevention in the Modern World United Nations Research Institute for Social Development,1996 A Comparative Study of Political and Bureaucratic Aspects of Emergency Famine Relief Janice Westcott,1988 Daniel O'Connell, The British Press and The Irish Famine Leslie A. Williams,2017-03-02 Through an investigation of the reportage in nineteenth century English metropolitan newspapers and illustrated journals this book begins with the question Did anti O Connell sentiment in the British press lead to killing remarks rhetoric that helped the press government and public opinion distance themselves from the Irish Famine The book explores the reportage of events and people in Ireland focussing first on Daniel O Connell and then on debates about the seriousness of the Famine Drawing upon such journals as The Times The Observer the Morning Chronicle The Scotsman the Manchester Guardian the Illustrated London News and Punch Williams suggests how this reportage may have effected Britain s response to Ireland s tragedy Continuing her survey of the press after the death of O Connell Leslie Williams demonstrates how the editors writers and cartoonists who reported and commented on the growing crisis in peripheral Ireland drew upon a metropolitan mentality In doing so the press engaged in what Edward Said identifies as exteriority whereby reporters cartoonists and illustrators basing their viewpoints on their very status as outsiders reflected the interests of metropolitan readers Although this was overtly excused as an effort to reduce bias stereotyping and historic enmity much of unconscious were deeply embedded in the language and images of the press Williams argues that the biases in language and the presentation of information proved dangerous She illustrates how David Spurr s categories or tropes of invalidation debasement and negation are frequently exhibited in the reports editorials and cartoons However drawing upon the communications theories of Gregory Bateson Williams concludes that the real subject of the British Press commentary on Ireland was Britain itself Ireland was used as a negative mirror to reinforce Britain s own commitment to capitalist industrial values at a time of great internal stress

The Challenge of Famine John Osgood Field,1993 The Indian Journal of Public Administration ,1975 Famines, Droughts, and Scarcities in India S. N. Kulkarni,1990 Historical study with special reference to Sinnar Taluk Maharashtra covers the period 1765 to date Famine in Peasant Societies Ronald E. Seavoy,1986-06-24 In this controversial study

Seavoy offers a new approach to the problem of periodic peacetime famine based on the actual behavior of peasants He maintains that it is possible to increase per capita food production without massive and inappropriate technological inputs Seavoy shifts the focus from modern development economics to a cultural and historical analysis of subsistence agriculture in Western Europe England and Ireland Indonesia and India From his survey of peasant civilization practices in these countries he generalizes on the social values that create what he terms the subsistence compromise In all of the ages and culture Seavoy finds a consistent social organization of agriculture that produces identical results seasonal hunger in poor crop years and famine conditions in consecutive poor crop years He argues that economic policies have failed to increase per capita food production because economists and government planners try to apply market oriented policies to populations that are not commercially motivated Once they understand the subsistence compromise policy makers can take appropriate political action
