Phillips,1993 Major American Higher Education Issues and Challenges in the 1990s Richard I. Miller,1990 Public and private higher education boards of control rightfully demand that higher education policies reflect rational and systematic approaches to the future Thinking and planning ahead of major post secondary issues and problems therefore becomes incumbent upon chief executive officers and their staffs in all types of colleges and universities US educational officials planned more seriously in the 70s when resources were diminishing than in the 80s when several years of unprecedented sustained economic growth provided greater flexibility and use of ongoing and new human and material resources But a return to leaner years can be expected in the 1990s and with it a greater emphasis on planning ahead

Development and Supervision of Teaching Assistants in Foreign Languages Joel Chandler Walz,1992 Development and Supervision of Teaching Assistants in Foreign Languages is the third book of the Issues in Language Program Direction AAUSC Annual Volumes This series strives to further scholarship in second language acquisition and teaching with regard to undergraduate programs with multisection courses The impact of demographic changes on foreign language programs and the role of faculty and administrators in postsecondary institutions are some of the topics addressed in other volumes This 1992 volume presents a broad spectrum of articles that demonstrates how complex the development of successful teachers can be Decolonizing Foreign Language Education Donaldo Macedo,2019-01-10 Decolonizing Foreign Language Education interrogates current foreign language and second language education approaches that prioritize white western thought Edited by acclaimed critical theorist and linguist Donaldo Macedo this volume includes cutting edge work by a select group of critical language scholars working to rigorously challenge the marginalization of foreign language education and the displacement of indigenous and non standard language varieties through the reification of colonial languages Each chapter confronts the hold of colonialism and imperialism that inform and shape the relationship between foreign language education and literary studies by asserting that a critical approach to applied linguistics is just as important a tool for FL ESL EFL educators as literature or linguistic theory Georgetown University Round Table on Languages and Linguistics

,1993 SLA and the Literature Classroom Holly Tucker, Virginia Mitchell Scott,2002 The 2001 AAUSC volume entitled SLA AND THE LITERATURE CLASSROOM FOSTERING DIALOGUES focuses on how research in SLA can inform the teaching of literature and conversely what contemporary literary theory might bring to research and methodology in SLA

Language Acquisition After Puberty Judith R. Strozer,1994 Bridging the gap between theoretical linguistics and language teaching Judith R Strozer explores what recent theoretical advances suggest about learning a language after childhood and the implications for the design and execution of a foreign language program Strozer outlines clearly in nontechnical language the major concepts of modern language theory from Chomsky's theory of language through the most recent discoveries about the abstract foundations of language She explains ideas about the evolution of a cognitive structure for language in the human brain a language faculty or Universal Grammar that gives humans alone the creative ability to generate the infinite expressions of language This innate universal schema for language endows humankind with a number of very broad principles applicable to all languages Turning to current advances in the theory of phrase structure which has replaced our 2 000 year old rules of grammar with highly abstract universal principles of language structure she relates the latest discoveries about the foundations of language to ideas about how children learn languages A child hearing a specific language can automatically set the parameters for the rules governing that particular language much like setting a binary switch But our ability to access this innate language mechanism automatically seems limited to childhood until physical maturity somehow changes this brain function Arguing that adults need to learn consciously the systems and structures of another language that children acquire unconsciously Strozer applies these latest theories about the nature of language and how we learn it to the design of foreign language programs for adults She concludes with recommendations for developing a new kind of teaching program that would draw on comparative language research and include new pedagogic approaches Presenting state of the art language theory in easily readable terms and illustrative examples this book will be of interest to everyone interested in the latest understanding of the relationship between the brain and language as well as to all professionals in linguistics and language education
