Chambers For A Memory Palace:

Chambers for A Memory Palace Donlyn Lyndon, Charles W. Moore, 1996-02-28 This ode to the spirit of place consists of an exchange of letters in which one author recalls and the other responds to the elements considered essential to the art of successful place making Each of the book s chapters forms a chamber and each chamber is inscribed with the authors personal observations This collaboration between two distinguished architects and former colleagues is a joyous celebration of admired places and a thoughtful consideration of the role that design has played in giving these places their memorable qualities It is also an invitation to readers to inhabit the chambers of the book with their own imaginations to join in the making of the Memory Palace proposed The authors informal witty and anecdotal style extends to the illustrations the freehand travel sketches line drawings and watercolors of places they have remembered and enjoyed Chambers for a Memory Palace consists of an exchange of letters in which one author recalls and the other responds to the elements considered essential to the art of successful place making Each of the book s chapters forms a chamber and each chamber is inscribed with personal observations on the composition of places and the architectural elements central to each building garden court monument or open space described The examples considered in these dialogues range from classic Western tradition to Asian temples and Islamic tombs from ancient ruins to modern cities In Axes that Reach Paths that Wander Lyndon and Moore discuss the Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills the Taj Mahal in Agra Vaux le Vicomte in France the Beverly Hills Civic Center and the Kimbell Museum in Forth Worth In Orchards that Measure Pilasters that Temper they consider the rhythmic spacing of elements in the Mosque at Cordoba the Cathedral at Bourges the thousand pillared mandapas of South Indian temples the facades of Schauspielhaus in Berlin and the Seagram building in New York City They use these and many other examples to illustrate the ways in which architecture experience and memory intertwine to help us experience events and places
