Changes Of Regime And Social Dynamics In West Java:

Changes of Regime And Social Dynamics in West Java Atsushi Ōta, 2006 This volume deals with the sultanate of Banten from the outbreak of the rebellion of 1750-52 to the launching of the Cultivation System in 1830 After the suppression of the rebellion by the Dutch East India Company VOC local society showed considerable vitality The introduction by the VOC of forced exploitation of the pepper cultivation did not lead to a significant increase in production but enabled the local elites to augment their power In the late 18th century Asian traders many Bugis and Chinese and English country traders integrated Banten and its Sumatran territory Lampung into a vibrant inter regional trading network This trade pattern which involved the exchange of pepper and the maritime and forest products demanded by the China market for opium contributed to the emergence of a new economic order in insular South East Asia This study shows how the society of Banten was in a state of constant transformation in reaction to the Western presence and the shifts of the world economy during the period from 1750 to 1830

Changes of Regime and Social Dynamics in West Java Ota (Atsushi, historicus), 2005 Dutch and British Colonial Intervention in Sri Lanka, 1780-1815 Alicia Schrikker, 2007 This study of Dutch and British colonial intervention on Sri Lanka in the period 1780-1815 provides a new overall characterisation of the functioning and growth of the colonial state in a period of transition

The Dutch East India Company's Tea Trade with China Yong Liu, 2007 This case study of the tea trade of the Dutch East India Company with China deals with the most profitable phase of the Dutch Company's China trade focusing on the question why and how the tea trade was taken out of the hands of the High Government in Batavia and put under the supervision of the newly established China Committee in 1757 Various factors which contributed to the phenomenal rise of this trade and its sudden decline are dealt with in detail Filling in lacunae left open by previous research and this monograph contributes to a more comprehensive understanding of the VOC trade with Asia

Politics and Governance in Indonesia Muradi,2014-06-05 How does an authoritarian state reform its police force following a transition to democracy In 1998 Indonesia the third largest country in the world faced just such a challenge Policing had long been managed under the jurisdiction of the military as an instrument of the Suharto regime and with Suharto abruptly removed from office this was about to change Here we see how it changed and how far these changes were for the better Based on direct observations by a scholar who was involved in the last days of the New Order and who saw how the police responded to regime change this book examines the police the new regime and how the police was disassociated from the military in Indonesia Providing a comprehensive historical overview of the position of police in this change of regime the book focuses on two key areas the differences between local and national levels and the politicisation associated with decentralisation Arguing that the disassociation of the Indonesian National Police from the military has achieved only limited success the book contends that there is continued impetus for the establishment of a professional police force and modern and democratic policing which will entail effective public control of the police A pioneering study of the police in Indonesia examining key issues in the post Suharto era this book will be of interest to scholars of Southeast Asian politics and of policing and politics in the developing world Journal of Southeast Asian Studies ,2009-10 Journal of Southeast Asian Studies
