ill defined and an interdisciplinary challenge Recent basic and translational science data have begun contributing to a more profound understanding of the molecular mechanisms leading to invasion of tumor cells into the CNS This report reviews advances challenges and perspectives in this field Prognostic factors in non-small cell lung cancer Luciano Mutti,Jun Zhang,Mohamed Rahouma,2023-04-12

Central Nervous System Metastases in Lung Cancer Patients: From Prevention to Diagnosis and Treatment Lizza E.L Hendriks,Deepa S. Subramaniam,Anne-Marie C. Dingemans,2019-01-21

Approximately 40% of lung cancer patients will develop central nervous system CNS metastases during the course of their disease Most of these are brain metastases but up to 10% will develop leptomeningeal metastases Known risk factors for CNS metastases development are small cell lung cancer SCLC adenocarcinoma histology epidermal growth factor receptor EGFR mutant or anaplastic lymphoma kinase ALK rearranged lung cancer advanced nodal status tumor stage and younger age CNS metastases can have a negative impact on quality of life QoL and overall survival OS The proportion of lung cancer patients diagnosed with CNS metastases has increased over the years due to increased use of brain imaging as part of initial cancer staging advances in imaging techniques and better systemic disease control Post contrast gadolinium enhanced magnetic resonance imaging gd MRI is preferred however when this is contra indicated a contrast enhanced computed tomography CE CT is mentioned as an alternative option When CNS metastases are diagnosed local treatment options consist of radiotherapy stereotactic or whole brain and surgery Local treatment can be complicated by symptomatic radiation necrosis for which no high level evidence based treatment exists Moreover differential diagnosis with metastasis progression is difficult Systemic treatment options have expanded over the last years Until recently chemotherapy was the only treatment option with a poor penetration in the CNS Angiogenesis inhibitors are promising in the treatment of primary CNS tumors as well as radiation necrosis but clinical trials of anti angiogenic agents in NSCLC have largely excluded patients with CNS metastases Furthermore research has also focused on methods to prevent development of CNS disease for example with prophylactic cranial irradiation Recently checkpoint inhibitors have become available for NSCLC patients and tyrosine kinase inhibitors TKIs have improved prognosis significantly in those with a druggable driver mutation Newer TKIs are often designed to have better CNS penetration compared to first generation TKIs Despite advances in treatment options CNS metastases remain a problem in lung cancer and cause morbidity and mortality This Research Topic provides an extensive resource of articles describing advances in CNS metastases management in lung cancer patients from prevention to diagnosis and treatment Schmidek & Sweet Operative Neurosurgical Techniques ,2006
