Of the 393 full papers submitted, 335 were accepted for publication after peer review. They are included here, organized into 19 technical sessions and cover a wide range of themes related to geotechnical engineering in the 21st century. Perfecto,John Vandermeer,Angus Wright,2019-05-31 When first published in 2009 Nature s Matrix set out a radical new approach to the conservation of biodiversity This new edition pushes the frontier of the biodiversity agriculture debate further making an even stronger case for the need to transform agriculture and support small and medium scale agroecology and food sovereignty In the first edition the authors set out a radical new approach to the conservation of biodiversity This is based on the concept of a landscape as a matrix of diverse small scale agricultural ecosystems providing opportunities to enhance conservation under the stewardship of local farmers This contrasts with the alternative view of industrial scale farms and large protected areas which exclude local people However since then the debate around conservation and agriculture has developed significantly and this is reflected in this updated second edition The text is thoroughly revised including a reorganization of chapters with new and timely topics introduced updates to the discussion of agroecology and food sovereignty bringing it in line with the current debates greater coverage of the role of agroecology in particular agroforestry as an important component of climate change adaptation and mitigation highlighting recent studies on the role of intensive agriculture in climate change and loss of biodiversity and more attention given to the discussion of land sparing versus land sharing By integrating the ecological aspects of agriculture and conservation biology with a political and social analysis as well as historical perspective the book continues to set a progressive agenda and appeals to a wide range of students and professionals
