Cultural Landscape:

The Cultural Landscape Hilary H. Birks, 1988 The Cultural Landscape Past Present and Future considers different aspects of man's intervention with natural vegetation and the landscape resulting from a long equilibrium of co-existence. These landscapes are not stable and the recent and ever accelerating changes in technology and life style have increasingly affected many ancient landscapes as old land use practices are abandoned and traditions forgotten. The papers in this book describe and trace the development of cultural landscapes in different climatic and biogeographical regions in Europe. Remnants of traditional land use still remaining are described particularly from Western Norway where traditions have lingered because the rugged topography of the region is inimicable to high technology. Each chapter is by an expert in the field. The topics cover the documentation of present cultural landscapes, their maintenance and restoration, and the history of the development of cultural landscapes from the Stone Age onwards, linking the intensity of landscape utilization with population dynamics and technological attainments. The disciplines involved include vegetation science, vegetation history, ecology, palaeoecology, archaeology, sociology, geography, and history.

Managing Cultural Landscapes Ken Taylor, Jane Lennon, 2012-02-13 One of our deepest needs is for a sense of identity and belonging. A common feature in this is human attachment to landscape and how we find identity in landscape and place. The late 1980s and early 1990s saw a remarkable flowering of interest in and understanding of cultural landscapes. With these came a challenge to the 1960s and 1970s concept of heritage concentrating on great monuments and archaeological locations, famous architectural ensembles or historic sites with connections to the rich and famous. Managing Cultural Landscapes explores the latest thought in landscape and place by airing critical discussion of key issues in cultural landscapes through accessible accounts of how the concept of cultural landscape applies in diverse contexts across the globe and is inextricably tied to notions of living history where landscape itself is a rich social history record, widening the notion that landscape only involves rural settings to embrace historic urban landscapes, townscape, examining critical issues of identity, maintenance of traditional skills and knowledge bases in the face of globalization and new technologies, fostering international debate with interdisciplinary appeal to provide a critical text for academics, students, practitioners, and informed community organizations, discussing how the cultural landscape concept can be a useful management tool relative to current issues and challenges. With contributions from an international group of authors, Managing Cultural Landscapes provides an examination of the management of heritage values of cultural landscapes from Australia, Japan, China, USA, Canada, Thailand, Indonesia, Pacific Islands, India, and the Philippines; it reviews critically the factors behind the removal of Dresden and its cultural landscape from World Heritage listing and gives an overview of Historic Urban Landscape thinking.

Landscape as Heritage Giacomo Pettenati, 2022-08-31 This edited book provides a broad collection of current critical reflections on heritage-making processes involving landscapes, positioning itself at the intersection of landscape and heritage studies. Cultural Landscapes Richard W. Longstreth, 2008 Preservation has traditionally focused on saving prominent buildings of historical or architectural significance Preserving cultural landscapes the combined fabric of the natural and man made environments is a relatively new and often misunderstood idea among preservationists but it is of increasing importance The essays collected in this volume case studies that include the Little Tokyo neighborhood in Los Angeles the Cross Bronx Expressway and a rural island in Puget Sound underscore how this approach can be fruitfully applied Together they make clear that a cultural landscape perspective can be an essential underpinning for all historic preservation projects Contributors Susan Calafate Boyle National Park Service Susan Buggey U of Montreal Michael Caratzas Landmarks Preservation Commission NYC Courtney P Fint West Virginia Historic Preservation Office Heidi Hohmann Iowa State U Hillary Jenks USC Randall Mason U Penn Robert Z Melnick U of Oregon Nora Mitchell National Park Service Julie Riesenweber U of Kentucky Nancy Rottle U of Washington Bonnie Stepenoff Southeast Missouri State U Richard Longstreth is professor of American civilization and director of the graduate program in historic preservation at George Washington University

Cultural Landscapes of Post-socialist Cities Mariusz Czepczyński, 2008 Since the velvet revolution of 1989 the totalitarian communist urbanscapes of central European cities have been cleansed or recycled bringing in new architectural functional and social forms to transform how they look and how they are used This book examines the culturally conditional variations between local powers and structures despite the similarities in the general processes and systems It assesses whether these urbanscapes clearly reflect the social cultural and political conditions and aspirations of these transitional countries and so a critical analysis of them provides important insights

The Cultural Landscape & Heritage Paradox Tom Bloemers, Henk Kars, Arnold Van der Valk, 2010 The basic problem is to what extent we can know past and mainly invisible landscapes and how we can use this still hidden knowledge for actual sustainable management of landscape s cultural and historical values It has also been acknowledged that heritage management is increasingly about the management of future change rather than simply protection This presents us with a paradox to preserve our historic environment we have to collaborate with those who wish to transform it and in order to apply our expert knowledge we have to make it suitable for policy and society The answer presented by the Protection and Development of the Dutch Archaeological Historical Landscape programme pdl bbo is an integrative landscape approach which applies inter and transdisciplinarity establishing links between archaeological historical heritage and planning and between research and policy
