Comparative Literature: Theory, Method, Application

Steven Tötösy de Zepetnek, 2024-12-09 This book serves several purposes all very much needed in today's embattled situation of the humanities and the study of literature First in Chapter One the author proposes that the discipline of Comparative Literature is a most advantageous approach for the study of literature and culture as it is a priori a discipline of cross disciplinary and of international dimensions After a Manifesto for a New Comparative Literature he proceeds to offer several related theoretical frameworks as a composite method for the study of literature and culture he designates and explicates as the systemic and empirical approach Following the introduction of the proposed New Comparative Literature the author applies his method to a wide variety of literary and cultural areas of inquiry such as Literature and Cultural Participation where he discusses several aspects of reading and readership Chapter Two Comparative Literature as and Interdisciplinarity Chapter Three where he deals with theory and application for film and literature and medicine and literature Cultures Peripherality and Comparative Literature Chapter Four where he proposes a theoretical designation he terms inbetween peripherality for the study of East Central European literatures and cultures as well as ethnic minority writing Women's Literature and Men Writing about Women Chapter Five where he analyses texts written by women and texts about women written by men in the theoretical context of Ethical Constructivism The Study of Translation and Comparative Literature Chapter Six where after a theoretical introduction he presents a new version of Anton Popovic's dictionary for literary translation as a taxonomy for the study of translation and The Study of Literature and the Electronic Age Chapter Seven where he discusses the impact of new technologies on the study of literature and culture The analyses in their various applications of the proposed New Comparative Literature involve modern and contemporary authors and their works such as Dorothy Richardson Margit Kaffka Mircea Cartarescu Robert Musil Alfred Döblin Hermann Hesse Peter Esterházy Dezső Kosztolányi Michael Ondaatje Endre Kúkörelly Else Seel and others

Cross-Cultural Dialogues Craig Storti, 2017-01-24 Through a series of 74 dialogues and one page analyses this practical guide comes as close as you can get on the printed page to actually experiencing cultural difference Updated with a new introduction and chapter How much culture lurks in common conversation According to Craig Storti so much that many of our most common seemingly innocent exchanges in social settings on the job in the world of business are cultural minefields waiting to explode These explosions cultural misunderstandings can cause confusion irritation even alienation At the workplace and in the world of business these explosions undermine communication threaten important relationships and cost a great deal of time and money away from work they strain even endanger personal relations Cross Cultural Dialogues is a collection of brief conversation 4 8 lines between an American and someone from another country and culture. Short as each dialogue is, it has buried within it at least one and usually several breaches of cultural norms which the reader is challenged to figure out. And a challenge it is: the exchanges are so brief and innocuous that even the wariest among us are sandbagged by the dialogue's hidden subtleties. Ten cultures are represented by the non-Americans in the dialogues: Arab, Middle Eastern, British, Chinese, French, German, Hispanic, Indian, Japanese, Mediterranean, European, and Russian, and the dialogues are grouped according to the setting in which they occur: social, workplace, and business. Whether you're a learner, trainer, educator, or an armchair interculturalist, you'll enjoy solving these cultural riddles and increase your cultural awareness in the bargain.

Occidentalism Xiaomei Chen, 2002. This revised and expanded edition of the first comprehensive study of Occidentalism in post-Mao China includes a new preface, foreword, and chapter on Chinese diaspora writings in the Chinese language. Xiaomei Chen offers an insightful account of the unremittingly favorable depiction of Western culture and its negative characterization of Chinese culture in post-Mao China since 1978. She examines the cultural and political interrelationship between the East and West from a vantage point more complex than that accommodated by most current theories of Western imperialism and colonialism. Going beyond Edward Said's construction in Orientalism of cross-cultural appropriations as a defining facet of Western imperialism, Chen argues that the appropriation of Western discourse, what she calls Occidentalism, can actually have a politically and ideologically liberating effect on contemporary non-Western culture. She maintains that simplistic allegations of Orientalism frequently found in current critical discourses seriously underestimate the complexities of intercultural and multicultural relationships. Using China as the focus of her analysis, Chen examines a variety of cultural media from Shakespearean drama to modernist poetry to contemporary Chinese television and popular fiction. She thus places sinology in the general context of Western theoretical discourses such as Eurocentrism, postcolonialism, nationalism, modernism, feminism, and literary hermeneutics, showing that it has a vital role to play in the study of Orient and Occident and their now unavoidable symbiotic relationship. Occidentalism presents a new model of comparative literary and cultural studies that reenvision cross-cultural appropriation. It will be indispensable to future discussions of Orientalism, Occidentalism, and postcolonialism, as well as subaltern studies, Asian studies, comparative literature, cultural studies, and non-Western drama.

Cinema and Desire Jing Wang, Tani E. Barlow, 2020-05-05. Dai Jinhua is one of contemporary China's most influential theoreticians and cultural critics. A feminist Marxist, her literary, film, and TV commentary has over the last decade addressed an expanding audience in China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong. Cinema and Desire presents Dai Jinhua's best work to date. In it, she examines the Orientalism that made Zhang Yimou the darling of international film festivals, establishes Huang Shuqin's Human Woman Demon as the People's Republic's first genuinely feminist film, comments on TV representations of the Chinese diaspora in New York, speculates on the value of Mao Zedong as an icon of post-revolutionary consumerism, and analyses the rise of shopping plazas in 1990s urban China as a strange montage in which the political memories of Tiananmen Square and the logic of the global capitalist marketplace are intertwined The Legal Image of China in Chinese Legal Tradition Xiaobo Dong, Yiran Luo, 2025-06-10 This book focuses on the study of China's legal image in the Chinese legal tradition taking Chinese classics as the carrier of the study of China's legal image and provides a pioneering approach to the study of China's legal image through a comprehensive and interdisciplinary analysis of the spreading of ancient Chinese classics outside the region. The rich legal thoughts and profound political wisdom contained in the Chinese legal tradition have deeply influenced and shaped the contemporary Chinese legal culture. China's legal image has undergone twists and turns in the western world for the past few centuries. This book intends to unveil the underlying causes and effects thereof, explore the construction of legal images in the process of the spreading of Chinese classics from different dimensions and offer the world a way to understand the formation of China's extraterritorial legal images and the cultural origin of contemporary Chinese rule of law thought. It provides a feasible path for general readers and students of relevant majors and professions who ever want to know better Chinese legal culture and legal philosophy and further understand Chinese rule of law concepts and culture in the New Era.

Canadian Review of Comparative Literature, 1997 The Journal of the Oriental Society of Australia Oriental Society of Australia, 2000 China Pluperfect I Frank Vigneron, 2022-07-01 Initially based on a comparative study of Chinese and Euro American art theory in the 18th and 19th centuries, this book examines how both cultures looked at their own past and their outside, i.e. what was construed as not belonging to their own cultural sphere and how they devised new ways of adapting them into evolving cultural constructs. While the 17th century was still a time when the epistemological backgrounds of both civilizations were so profoundly different that nearly no dialogue was possible, the 18th century saw the emergence in both places of profound changes that would get them close enough to create the conditions for the beginning of a conversation. First quite superficial and taking shape mostly in the decorative arts, this process of rapprochement while remaining chaotic and unpredictable led to wider and more profound zones of contact throughout the late 19th and 20th centuries. Through the reinterpretations of each other's cultural creations, these zones of contact grew wider as the conditions for globalization became more and more prevalent. Frank Vigneron observes and explores these changes through texts and the visual arts to reveal how these two civilizations while keeping their own characteristics managed to develop fruitful dialogues and create deeply intertwined cultures. As an example, the final chapter looks at contemporary Chinese calligraphy as an art that even though it has no equivalent in Euro America successfully integrated cross-cultural theoretical elements thus exemplifying how past and outside can combine into new artistic constructs. Literary Intercrossings Mabel Lee, A. D. Stefanowska, 1998 This volume is an important addition to comparative literature studies with its focus on literary intercrossings between East Asia and the West "Variations Without a Theme" and Other Stories Xing Xu, 1997 The fiction of Xu works across boundaries fusing Daoist traditions with the pessimism of Western nihilism Women Imaging Women Flaudette May V.
