Creating A Learning School:

Creating a Learning School David Middlewood, Richard Parker, Jackie Beere OBE, 2005-05-19 Improving the quality of learning and teaching is the most important thing that school leaders do This book contains much that will help the reader in that enterprise It reflects the fact that much of what we know about effective high quality schools is already out there in schools across the country The book mines that gold It is full of good sense a treasure chest of helpful ideas which have the credibility of being grounded in case study material and in the experience of the authors two of whom are practising headteachers The book sets out the principles underpinning the Learning School but offers also a strong pragmatic focus and is organized so that it can be dipped into and something worthwhile easily found It sets out practical and specific steps to creating the Learning School and will support change and improvement in the professional practices involved in making a school a stimulating learning environment for adults as well as students Dr Martin J Coles Assistant Director National College for School Leadership Clearly set out passionately and well written covering much material full of interesting insights as one might expect from two head teachers and an acknowledged expert in the field Lots of interesting thoughts and ideas written in an accessible style I would certainly recommend this book to my students ESCalate The schools of the 21st century cannot continue to apply the techniques of the 20th century New Learning dispenses with outdated preoccupations with tests targets and leadership from above and focuses on independence of learning and structural flexibility within schools The authors give a complete overview of how schools can adapt to meet changing needs They look at the teacher as learner learning outside the classroom and the nature of leadership in learning schools and provide practical solutions to the problems of staffing resourcing and assessment This book is an invaluable resource for all mid to upper level managers in schools anyone aspiring to these positions or anyone who takes a longterm view of the future of educational practice

Building School 2.0 Chris Lehmann, Zac Chase, 2015-07-31 Ninety five propositions for creating more relevant more caring schools There is a growing desire to reexamine education and learning Educators use the phrase school 2.0 to think about what schools will look like in the future Moving beyond a basic examination of using technology for classroom instruction Building School 2.0 How to Create the Schools We Need is a larger discussion of how education learning and our physical school spaces can and should change because of the changing nature of our lives brought on by these technologies Well known for their work in creating Science Leadership Academy SLA a technology rich collaborative learner centric school in Philadelphia founding principal Chris Lehmann and former SLA teacher Zac Chase are uniquely qualified to write about changing how we educate The best strategies they contend enable networked learning that allows research creativity communication and collaboration to help prepare students to be functional citizens within a modern society Their model includes discussions of the following key concepts Technology must be ubiquitous necessary and invisible Classrooms must be learner centric and use backwards design principles Good technology can be better than new technology Teachers must serve as mentors and bring real world experiences to students Each section of Building School 2 0 presents a thesis designed to help educators and administrators to examine specific practices in their schools and to then take their conclusions from theory to practice Collectively the theses represent a new vision of school built off of the best of what has come before us but with an eye toward a future we cannot fully imagine
