Creating Spaces And Finding Voices:

Creating Spaces and Finding Voices Janet L. Miller, 1990-07-05 This book follows the shared journey of five classroom teachers and a university professor as they together examine the possibilities and dilemmas of collaborative inquiry and teacher empowerment Teachers voices in spite of their similarities and differences still are not heard in the clamor for educational reform nor are they recognized on the national agendas for research on teacher education Miller and her colleagues articulate and question the contexts and assumptions that influence and frame teaching practice as they explore the constraints and the possibilities of defining and thus empowering teachers as teacher researchers Here the multiple and changing voices of teachers are clearly heard and Miller shares their experiences their frustrations their hopes and their issues By grounding these concerns within the particularities of their teaching Miller and her colleagues explore concrete situations in which they challenge and support one another Through these stories of collaborative efforts others are invited to join together in the continuous process of creating those spaces in which all teachers voices may be acknowledged and valued

Sounds of Silence Breaking Janet L. Miller, 2005 This book contains a broad range of Millers writings and intertwines interpretations of educational theories events and practices throughout private and public dimensions of Miller s life

Representation and the Text William G. Tierney, Yvonna S. Lincoln, 1997-01-01 Focuses on authorial representations of contested reality in qualitative research This book focuses on representations of contested realities in qualitative research The authors examine two separate but interrelated issues criticisms of how researchers use voice and suggestions about how to develop experimental voices that expand the range of narrative strategies Changing relationships between researchers and respondents dictate alterations in textual representations from the view from nowhere to the view from a particular location and from the omniscient voice to the polyvocality of communities of individuals Examples of new representations and textual experiments provide models for how some authors have struggled with voice in their texts and in so doing broaden who they and we mean by us

Understanding Curriculum William F. Pinar, 1995 Perhaps not since Ralph Tyler s 1949 Basic Principles of Curriculum and Instruction has a book communicated the field as completely as Understanding Curriculum From historical discourses to breaking developments in feminist poststructuralist and racial theory including chapters on political theory phenomenology aesthetics theology international developments and a lengthy chapter on institutional concerns the American curriculum field is here It will be an indispensable textbook for undergraduate and graduate courses alike

Partnerships in Education Mary John O'Hair, Sandra J. Odell, 1994 In association with the Association of Teacher Educators ATE 1994 conference This text focuses on the national movement towards enhanced partnerships between public schools the community and colleges of education

An Integrated Language Perspective in the Elementary School Christine Pappas, Barbara Zulantz

Kiefer, Linda S. Levstik, 1999 Like the first two editions the new updated third edition of An Integrated Language Perspective is the practical handbook every teacher needs to bring the reflective inquiry emphasis of integrated curriculum theory to life in the elementary and middle school classroom New to this Edition An end of book Guide to Teacher Inquiry shows teachers and student teachers how to use their own classrooms as learning settings for themselves as well as for their students Among the other features new to this edition are sections on teaching phonics and grammar in context and on how to critically examine the values embedded in language Southeastern Journal of Music Education, 1996 Marching Into a New Millennium Patrick M. Jenlink, 2000-07-26 The eighth annual NCPEA Yearbook Marching Into A New Millennium Challenges to Educational Leadership speaks to the uncertainty of what awaits both professors and practitioners of educational leadership in 2000 and beyond The Yearbook is organized into six sections vision quest for leadership professional learning in leadership preparation connecting preparation and practice meeting challenges of gender and diversity issues of performance and quality in leadership practice and creating learning communities and cultures of change Connecting Genuine Teacher Development to the Struggle for Social Justice Kenneth M. Zeichner, 1992 Investigating Language Anxiety Through Action Inquiry Alyson McGee, 1999 Dynamic Teachers Sharon F. Rallis, 1995-08-16 This inspiring book examines the emerging roles of teachers whose classrooms reflect a rapidly changing society The authors describe the qualities teachers need in order to adapt and become more successful in the classroom They must be content and pedagogical experts in creating constructivist classrooms see themselves as professionals making a commitment to professional behaviors facilitate conditions for student learning challenge students thinking through appropriate questioning strategies extend the classroom into the community and bring the community into the classroom and become a change agent advocating for school reform within the school in the community and in the seats of government All teachers are capable of expanding their skills in order to achieve these goals the authors contend regardless of community support financial resources or preparation and training Using information gathered from careful studies of working teachers they provide a portrait of an emerging dynamic teacher illustrating how these educators differ from their colleagues They highlight the reasons why such differences are essential to the success of schooling in the future and offer concrete suggestions for how practicing teachers can begin their own journey to becoming a dynamic teacher Fostering a Climate for Faculty Scholarship at Community Colleges James C. Palmer, George B. Vaughan, 1992 The essays in this monograph address three themes related to the challenge of scholarship at the community college The first is leadership Leaders need to change attitudes and institutional values if scholarship is to take its place as an accepted part of community college life The connection between scholarship and teaching often denied in the false but widely accepted teaching versus research dichotomy is a second theme The professional obligations of community college educators constitute a third theme In forging a larger role for scholarship within the community college culture leaders can build upon the scholarly drives and interests that already exist among many faculty members and administrators From publisher s description Interpreting Experience Ruthellen Josselson,Amia Lieblich,1995-03-24 The focus of this book is on the role of narrative analysis in the social sciences and in increasing our understanding of human lives and experiences Contributors address such questions as Should in depth interviews become occasions in which to ask for life stories so as to enhance a study of social phenomena Can a richer approach to psychological understanding be reached by studying how experience conscious and unconscious is organized interpreted and reshaped throughout the life cycle How can biographical work be used to shed light on the social construction of individual lives In addition the book covers the use of narrative analysis in career biography in examining turning points in people s lives in the effe Critical Discourses on Teacher Development John Smyth,1995 The central thesis of this book is that reclaiming teaching depends upon reclaiming the language within which dialogue about schooling can occur The contributors provide both a rationale and some pointers on how this process might proceed in this respect this is an important book at a critical period in the history of schools Literacy Research, Theory, and Practice Charles K. Kinzer,Donald J. Leu,1992 Research Methods and Methodologies for Art Education Sharon D. La Pierre,Enid Zimmerman,1997 Research on the Effects of Teacher Education on Teacher Performance Julie D. Rainer,Edith M. Guyton,2001 Curriculum interventions action research professional development and support for beginning teachers are among the important research areas explored in this textbook This book will make classroom discussion come alive and inform classroom practice through case studies examples and suggested projects
