world history shifting the focus of critique from modes of production to modes of exchange Karatani seeks to understand both Capital Nation State the interlocking system that is the dominant form of modern global society and the possibilities for superseding it In The Structure of World History he traces different modes of exchange including the pooling of resources that characterizes nomadic tribes the gift exchange systems developed after the adoption of fixed settlement agriculture the exchange of obedience for protection that arises with the emergence of the state the commodity exchanges that characterize capitalism and finally a future mode of exchange based on the return of gift exchange albeit modified for the contemporary moment He argues that this final stage marking the overcoming of capital nation and state is best understood in light of Kant s writings on eternal peace The Structure of World History is in many ways the capstone of Karatani s brilliant career yet it also signals new directions in his thought The Public ,1914 Dun's Review ,1913 High School Debate Book
