Birds Of The Republic Of Panama Volume 2:

The Birds of the Republic of Panama, Vol. 2 Alexander Wetmore, 2017-11-23 Excerpt from The Birds of the Republic of Panama Vol 2 Columbidae Pigeons to Picidae Woodpeckers The first section of this account of the avifauna of the Isthmus of Panama published December 27 1965 covered the 202 species in the 35 families from the Tinamidae tinamous to the Rynchopidae skimmers The 18 families in this second part include 208 species in the groups remaining in the systematic sequence to the great order of the Passeriformes the perching birds As in the first part the individual accounts include a summary of what is known of each species based on personal observation and on the published records of others A further season of field work from January to March 1966 covered the Burica Peninsula in southwestern Chiriqui an area not visited previously and one from which little was known of its natural history It was fortunate that the visit came at that time as forest cover there was being cleared rapidly for agriculture Introductory paragraphs in the first volume outline briefly the physical features of the Republic so these are not repeated here except to note that with continued change in access to more remote areas clearing of forests proceeds with a rapidity alarming in its steady pressure in restriction of the native fauna and flora In this connection it is a pleasure to record the establishment of the National Park and Biological Reserve of Cerro Campana an interesting region that marks the southern boundary of the mountain flora and fauna of the high lands of western Panama With this important beginning it is hoped that other areas also may be set aside for the preservation of their natural features Of equal interest and value is the action of the Ministerio de Agricultura Comercio e Industrias in its Decree No 23 of January 30 1967 which establishes protective measures for the conservation of the native fauna with provision for the establishment of a National Commission concerned with these important matters About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Birds of the Republic of Panama: Passeriformes: Dendrocolaptidae (woodcreepers) to Oxyruncidae (sharpbills) Alexander Wetmore, 1965 The Davis Collection of Ornithological and Other Natural History Documents at the Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology Cornell University.
