

Choosing Stock Investment Company

Topic: Economics | Words: 1760 | Pages: 6

Stock investment and trading are some of the most profitable yet volatile ventures in the history of economics. As a result, several factors determine what type of investments should be made in the stock market and when they should be executed. In a nutshell, the potential performance of a company determines its initial public offering and subsequent performance in the market (Loughran & McDonald, 2020). Apple and HP are publicly traded companies whose growth in valuation has attracted many investors around the world. However, investors need to make critical considerations before pumping their revenue into any company, including the duo mentioned above.

Factors to Consider When Investing in Stock Market

Stock trading is an open investment opportunity for millions of investors worldwide. Making the right investment choice at the personal or corporate level is an essential step in the venture and determines the ultimate level of success. The main goal of any investment is to gain profit, whether in short-term, medium-term, or long-term goals. The time frame chosen by an investment company helps determine how long the company can recover its assets should something go wrong (Maheshwari & Dhanka, 2018). Boutique investment company seeks to make long-term investments in either of the companies. A resolution is provided later herein.

Secondly, a company's investment strategy is an essential factor for consideration. Investment strategies embrace value, growth, and income and are dependent on the bankers' goals. Value investing focuses on
