E U Structural Funds:

Policy Networks and European Structural Funds Hubert Heinelt, Randall Smith, 1996 This text looks at the origin and growth of the EU structural funds focusing on the principles of governance in the policy making process of the EU as a developing political system It includes separate case studies of member countries A Creeping Transformation? Michael W. Bauer, 2001-10-31 How can we approach the Commission's role as co manager of policy implementation Why should we expect the Commission to be pulled into domestic policy execution and to accumulate something like an implementation management capacity How should we conceptualise the Commission's linkage with post decision management issues Finally how does the Commission's involvement in the application of EU policies if any significantly change everything Such questions are answered in this study which is concerned with what may be called the implementation management capacity of the European Commission Simply put this is the role the Commission plays in the implementation of large scale European spending programmes While it is true that the Commission's predominant prerogatives are to draft legislation and facilitate bargaining it also has a role in post decision policy management This role is of increasing importance for the emerging governance of the European Union Readership social scientists journalists and all those interested in the role of the European Commission in shaping EU policies EU Structural Funds Beyond Agenda 2000 Frank Bollen, Ines Hartwig, Phedon Nicolaides, 2000 The Impact of EU Structural Funds on Polish Small and Medium-sized Enterprises Joanna Mastalerek, 2005-02-14 Essay from the year 2005 in the subject Politics Topic European Union grade A Jagiellonian University in Krakow Europaeistik course Business and Markets in Central Eastern Europe language English abstract Poland's accession to the EU in May 2004 is supposed to have positive long term effects on the Polish economy In the short term it has considerably charged Polish companies with the burden of new costs and challenges linked to the EU accession for instance adopting the EU's environmental or quality standards Particularly small and medium sized who are particularly sensitive to the changes in their business environment struggle with the challenges of the EU accession and are seriously concerned by the increased competition on the internal market 1 To cushion up these effects the EU supports Polish SMEs by means of different Community funds whose legal basis can be found in Art 130 130a and 130b of the Treaty of Maastricht stipulating that In order to promote its overall harmonious development the Community shall develop and pursue its actions in leading to the strengthening of its economic and social cohesion encouraging an environment favourable to initiative and to the development of undertakings throughout the Community particularly small and medium sized undertakings The Community shall also support the achievement of these objectives by the action it takes through the Structural Funds European Agricultural Guidance and Guarantee Fund Guidance Section European Social Fund European Regional Development Fund the European Investment Bank and other existing financial instruments EU Structural Funds and Growth Prospects, 2017 In the financial framework period of 2014 to 2020 for the first time the European Structural Funds represent the main share of the European Union's EU budget. Previous evaluations on the funding's effectiveness reveal contradicting results. A new and robust RWI study does not find any positive effects of the program on economic growth. In fact, impacts indicate that highly funded regions might have to overcome structural problems first before growth programs can take effect. Also, a high intensity of funding in the immediate regional neighborhood has a strongly negative influence on a region's growth prospects.

Coherence of EU Regional Policy John Bachtler, Ivan Turok, 1997-05-02. This book brings together a rich selection of up to date practical experience of EU regional policy from across Europe. It provides different perspectives on the design and operation of regional development strategies under the Structural Funds from people closely involved in studying, managing or advising on the process at EU national and regional levels. It therefore offers a more comprehensive and detailed understanding of the structural policies than has been available hitherto. This will prove particularly useful to researchers, practitioners and students interested in European regional policies and processes.

European Regional Development Fund Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Communities and Local Government Committee, 2012-07-13. The abolition of the Regional Development Agencies removed the main source of match funding for ERDF sponsored projects and the economic downturn has curbed alternative options for match funding even further. There is a pressing need to spend each region's ERDF allocation before 2015 but unless ministers take urgent steps to deliver on the Government's promise to make it easier for projects to secure match funding through the Regional Growth Fund, there is a significant risk that value for money will suffer and ERDF will not make the impact it could to help rebalance the UK's economy. The Committee endorses a number of sensible rule changes that will govern the next ERDF round 2014-20, currently proposed and related proposals to give Member States the power to tailor the size of their Operational Programme areas which could permit Local Economic Partnerships in England to take responsibility for managing EU funds. MPs also challenge the current allocation system where even the wealthiest Member States receive some ERDF funding when a portion of what they pay in originally gets recycled back to them. The cross party group of MPs calls for this circular money flow to end and for England to retain this portion of funding to deliver its own regional policy. The Government would have to guarantee the same level of funding across the EU's 7 year funding cycle. This change would not affect the Government's contribution to ERDF for the poorer Member States. Lastly, MPs challenge the Government to evaluate the value for money of ERDF funded projects.

Additionality and Regional Development Chiara Del Bo, 2016. This paper deals with the effects of the transfer of additional funds on the real economy of recipient countries in particular the European Member States. The intended and unintended effects of additional funds on national public finances and ultimately economic performance are discussed. Understanding the real effects of additional public funds and the possible complementarity or substitutability with national public finance is important for shaping the policies for the allocation of Structural Funds. Verification of additionality plays a role in ensuring that additional funds are used to effectively complement national expenditure programmes. In the case of the European Union it is widely recognised that the current verification mechanism is affected by weaknesses that prevent it from providing reliable and useful data to effectively assess additionality For this reason the paper suggests the European Commission to move away from the current verification approach and to adopt a new one that could more effectively assess to what extent the Structural Funds complement national investments

New Modes of Governance and the EU Structural and Cohesion Policy in the New Member States Kálmán Dezséri,2007 This book looks at policy steering modes in other words governance of one particular Community policy area namely structural cohesion policy The study analyzes the governance modes of this policy at the European Union EU level and its implementation in eight new member states putting special emphasis on the usage of new modes of governance in this policy field In the broad sense the term new modes of governance is understood as a range of innovations and transformations that have occurred and continue to in the instruments methods modes and systems of governance New approach to governance involves such concepts as a web of non hierarchical relations between actors voluntary consensus building the application of soft measures and more flexibility in implementation This new approach has increased in importance in the EU during the last ten years i e the Amsterdam Treaty the Lisbon agenda and the European Commission s White Paper on Governance Within Europe

European Integration, Regional Policy, and Growth Bernard Funck,Lodovico Pizzati,2003 This publication contains a number of papers presented by leading academics policy makers and practitioners from existing and new EU member countries at a conference in Barcelona in October 2002 These papers discuss key issues regarding the effectiveness of attempts to reduce regional disparities with the EU and the implications of current enlargement including the trade offs between promoting national growth and reducing relative disparities the role of growth poles the investment climate and labour market flexibility the role of the EU and regional policy overall

Internal Labor Mobility in Central Europe and the Baltic Region Pierella Paci,2007 Large regional disparities in labor market indicators exist in Central Europe and the Baltic region Such disparities appear to be persistent over time indicating in part a lack of flexibility in the prevailing adjustment mechanisms Internal labor mobility is often seen as an important instrument to reduce adjustment costs when other mechanisms fail Drawing from a variety of data sources and utilizing a common empirical framework and estimation strategy this study identifies patterns and statistical profiles of geographical mobility It finds internal migration to be generally low and highly concentrated among better educated young and single workers This suggests that migration is more likely to reinforce existing inequalities than to act as an equalizing phenomenon By way of contrast commuting flows have grown over time and are more responsive to regional economic differentials The findings suggest the need for appropriate and country tailored policy measures designed to increase the responsiveness of labor flows to market conditions

China's Relations with Central and Eastern Europe Weiqing Song,2017-10-04 As China rises as an economic and an international power new relationships are being forged with all areas of the world including Central and Eastern Europe This book explores how this relationship is developing It considers how China's links with Central and Eastern Europe fit in to China's overall international relations strategies. It looks at economic and trade ties, diplomatic initiatives and the role of the European Union and examines China's bilateral relations with the different states of the region. These relationships are particularly interesting because before the end of communism in Eastern Europe, China had many direct links with the countries of the region.

Subsidiarity and EU Multilevel Governance Serafín Pazos-Vidal, 2019-02-25. This book examines the theory and praxis of the legal concept of subsidiarity and the policy paradigm of multilevel governance, providing an updated overview on how subnational and national authorities engage within the EU institutional framework. Providing a theoretical assessment of real-life case studies, the book reflects on a number of key events from the negotiations of the European Convention to the process that led to the Brexit referendum and assesses the key agendas and institutional ethos of most actors involved in EU policymaking. It particularly focusses on the EU engagement of so-called non-privileged actors such as subnational authorities from the UK, Germany, Austria, Italy, the Netherlands and Scandinavia, as well as national and regional parliaments. The author goes on to examine the sometimes selfish behaviour and individual agendas of the European Commission, European Parliament, Member States and even the European Court of Justice, but also identifies many constructive ways of interaction that can decisively frame how EU decisions are made. This comprehensive book will be a useful reference to students, practitioners and academic researchers working in European politics, policymaking, public policy and EU law and integration.

European Structural and Investment Funds 2014-2020, 2015. The European Structural and Investment (ESI) Funds make available more than EUR 450 billion in 2014-2020 to support Member States and regions' efforts towards the Europe 2020 strategy, as well as to promote economic, social and territorial cohesion, sustainable development of rural and maritime areas and sustainable management of natural resources. Compared to 2007-2013 cohesion policy, this new framework proposes a number of new mechanisms to ensure the ESI Funds deliver on their objectives: a sound strategic approach through Partnership Agreements and programmes, thematic concentration, the performance framework, ex ante conditionalities, a closer link to European economic governance, increased opportunities for the use of financial instruments, support to institutional capacity, minimum shares for ESF contribution and a Youth Employment Initiative specifically set out to combat youth unemployment. This guide covers the texts of the main regulations in force: Common Provisions Regulation, European Regional Development Fund, European Social Fund, Cohesion Fund, European Agricultural Rural Development Fund, European Maritime and Fisheries Fund and European Territorial Cooperation, and presents a commentary on each one.

Reform of the Structural Funds Anne-Marie Mouradian, 1992.

Regional Development and Spatial Planning in an Enlarged European Union Neil Adams, 2016-04-01. The expansion of the European Union in 2004 has had significant consequences for both existing and new members of the Union. New member states are assimilating into a new institutional and policy framework, while the changing geography of Europe provides a different context for policy development in pre-2004 member states. One of the more important fields in which these changes are impacting is regional development. The admission of the new countries changes patterns of economic and social disparities across the territory of the European Union which in turn demands that existing approaches to regional development are reconsidered. An approach which has proved to be one of the most innovative is spatial planning. This book brings together a team of academics and policy makers from across the new Europe involved in regional development and spatial planning. Providing insights into different approaches it offers a valuable opportunity to compare experiences across European borders.

European Cohesion Policies Claudia Harms, 2009-01-26 Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject Politics Topic European Union grade 1.3 Berlin School of Economics and Law course Modul Europäische Kohäsionspolitik und Förderinstrumente language English abstract Cohesion policies are a means to support European integration. This essay indicates the main financial instruments which are to achieve cohesion. It identifies crucial factors leading to successful implementation of European funding programmes. The essay addresses the following issues:

- 1 Analysis of the relationship between the two objectives of the cohesion policies: growth and reduction of disparities. Are there any contradictions or tension between these objectives or do they just complement each other?
- 2 Analysis and comparison of the priorities of the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF) and the European Social Fund (ESF) in the light of the overall objectives for the cohesion policies. What are their differences in scope? Where are similarities? Where are potential synergies?
- 3 For the funding period 2007-2013, the budget of the European Structural Funds is dedicated to certain objectives and financial instruments. How is the present distribution of the financial means of the Structural Funds? What are the main reasons and criteria having guided the decision for this distribution? Assessment of the adequacy of the existing distribution and reasons for the conception.
- 4 Besides the European Structural Funds, there are a large number of European funding programmes covering a broad range of thematic subjects. Systematical differentiation between sources of European funding.
- 5 According to a commonly agreed Operational Programme, the means of the European Structural Funds are implemented decentralized by the Member States or the regions. Based on this framework, it is up to the national and regional governments to make the best use of European money. How can the quality of regional public administration services contribute to an effective and efficient implementation of the European Structural Funds?

OECD Economic Surveys: Poland 2018 OECD, 2018-03-19 The Polish economy is expanding rapidly and living standards continue to rise, catching up with those in other OECD countries. To sustain this trend, Poland needs to invest further in skills and infrastructure and develop its capacity to innovate.

Multi-level Governance in the European Union Thomas Conzelmann, 2008 In recent years, the debate on the future institutional shape of the European Union has centred on the Constitutional Treaty and the Lisbon Treaty as its less ambitious but possibly equally abortive successor. The debate has thus neglected the emergence of a wide variety of new and multi-level forms of governing. The present volume takes stock of these debates and asks critical questions about policy conflicts and the effectiveness and legitimacy of these forms of governance. Under what conditions can they stand up to the high expectations that are put in them by their supporters The volume offers reflections on the notion of network governance Multi Level Governance and the difficult issue of democratic accountability as well as empirical case studies from the structural funds area as well as from environmental policy broadly conceived EU Funds Veronica Vecchi, 2012-10-16T00:00:00+02:00 The European Union is reprogramming the fifth cycle of structural funds and other funding programs They will represent a relevant opportunity for public private and not for profit organizations non only to get additional resources for innovation competitiveness and growth but above all to become part of transnational projects and networks to develop skills know how and good practices The aim of this book is to provide to students and executives useful conceptual framework and tools to strategically use European Union funds both those managed by EU Commissions through its Directorates General and those managed by other Institutions at national and regional levels or by among others European Investment Bank
