

A technician in a dark uniform is working on a large, open industrial PC case. The case is filled with complex hardware, including a large fan and various components. A thick plume of white steam or smoke is rising from the top of the case. The technician is holding a tool, possibly a vacuum or a specialized cleaning device, near the bottom of the case. The scene is dimly lit, with a blue glow emanating from a component at the bottom of the case. The overall atmosphere is technical and focused on problem-solving.
