Late Antiquity on the Eve of Islam Averil Cameron, 2017-05-15 This volume reflects the huge upsurge of interest in the Near East and early Islam currently taking place among historians of late antiquity At the same time Islamicists and Qur anic scholars are also increasingly seeking to place the life of Muhammad and the Qur an in a late antique background Averil Cameron herself one of the leading scholars of late antiquity and Byzantium has chosen eleven key articles that together give a rounded picture of the most important trends in late antique scholarship over the last decades and provide a coherent context for the emergence of the new religion. A substantial introduction with a detailed bibliography surveys the present state of the field as well as discussing some recent themes in Qur'anic and early Islamic scholarship from the point of view of a late antique historian. The volume also provides an invaluable introduction to recent scholarship making clear the ferment of religious change that was taking place across the Near East before, during, and after the lifetime of Muhammad. It will be essential reading for Islamicists and late antique students and scholars alike.

A History of Islamic Societies Ira M. Lapidus, 2014-10-13. This new edition of one of the most widely used course books on Islamic civilizations around the world has been substantially revised to incorporate the new scholarship and insights of the last twenty-five years. Ira Lapidus's history explores the beginnings and transformations of Islamic civilizations in the Middle East and details Islam's worldwide diffusion. The history is divided into four parts: Part I is a comprehensive account of pre-Islamic late antiquity, the beginnings of Islam, the early Islamic empires, and Islamic religious, artistic, legal, and intellectual cultures; Part II deals with the construction in the Middle East of Islamic religious communities and states to the fifteenth century; Part III includes the history to the nineteenth century of Islamic North Africa and Spain, the Ottoman, Safavid, and Mughal empires, and other Islamic societies in Asia and Africa; Part IV accounts for the impact of European commercial and imperial domination on Islamic societies and traces the development of the modern national state system and the simultaneous Islamic revival from the early nineteenth century to the present.

Early Islam Karl-Heinz Ohlig, 2013. This successor volume to The Hidden Origins of Islam, edited by Karl Heinz Ohlig and Gerd R. Puin, continues the pioneering research begun in the first volume into the earliest development of Islam. Using coins, commemorative building inscriptions, and a rigorous linguistic analysis of the Koran along with Persian and Christian literature from the seventh and eighth centuries when Islam was in its formative stages, five expert contributors attempt a reconstruction of this critical time period. Despite the scholarly nature of their work, the implications of their discoveries are startling: Islam originally emerged as a sect of Christianity. Its central theological tenets were influenced by a pre-Nicean Syrian Christianity. Aramaic, the common language throughout the Near East for many centuries, and the language of Syrian Christianity significantly influenced the Arabic script and vocabulary used in the Koran. Finally, it was not until the end of the eighth and ninth centuries that Islam formed as a separate religion, and the Koran underwent a period of historical development of at least 200 years. Controversial and highly intriguing, this critical historical analysis reveals the beginning of Islam in a completely new light.

Islam Roberto Tottoli, 2020-10-27. The Formation of Islamic Law Wael B. Hallaq, 2016-12-05 The fourteen studies included in this volume have been chosen to serve several purposes simultaneously At a basic level they aim to provide a general if not wholly systematic coverage of the emergence and evolution of law during the first three and a half centuries of Islam On another level they reflect the different and at times widely divergent scholarly approaches to this subject matter These two levels combined will offer a useful account of the rise of Islamic law not only for students in this field but also for Islamicists who are not specialists in matters of law comparative legal historians and others At the same time however and as the Introduction to the work argues this collection of distinguished contributions illustrates both the achievements and the shortcomings of paradigmatic scholarship on the formative period of Islamic law

Production and the Exploitation of Resources Michael G. Morony, 2022-04-19 This volume together with its companion Manufacturing and Labour examines the economic basis of the early Islamic world looking at the organization of extractive and agricultural operations manufacturing processes and labour relations Mining stock raising agriculture and irrigation are the themes of this volume The work is based on both literary sources and archaeology and is concerned with the extraction of raw materials and production based on natural resources and domesticated animals Some classic articles are included because they defined the issues and deserve to be available due to their continuing significance These are balanced by state of the art studies and by others translating and commenting on important texts in areas where analytic studies have yet to be carried out This body of work provides a sense of the intensity of exploitation of natural resources in early Islamic times of how labour and energy intensive mining agriculture and irrigation were and of the interrelationship of different sectors of the economy

Early Islam and the Birth of Capitalism Benedikt Koehler, 2014-06-17 Early Islam and the Birth of Capitalism proposes a strikingly original thesis that capitalism first emerged in Arabia not in late medieval Italian city states as is commonly assumed Early Islam made a seminal but largely unrecognized contribution to the history of economic thought it is the only religion founded by an entrepreneur Descending from an elite dynasty of religious civil and commercial leaders Muhammad was a successful businessman before founding Islam As such the new religion had much to say on trade consumer protection business ethics and property As Islam rapidly spread across the region so did the economic teachings of early Islam which eventually made their way to Europe Early Islam and the Birth of Capitalism demonstrates how Islamic institutions and business practices were adopted and adapted in Venice and Genoa These financial innovations include the invention of the corporation business management techniques commercial arithmetic and monetary reform There were other Islamic institutions assimilated in Europe charities the waqf inspired trusts and institutions of higher learning the madrasas were models for the oldest colleges of Oxford and Cambridge As such it can be rightfully said that these essential aspects of capitalist thought all have Islamic roots Islam at the Cross Roads De Lacy O'Leary,1923 Contributions to the History of Islamic Civilization Salahuddin Khuda Bukhsh,1929
