Mathematical Economics Akira Takayama, 1985-08-30 This systematic exposition and survey of mathematical economics emphasizes the unifying structures of economic theory

Specification Analysis in the Linear Model Maxwell L. King, David E. A. Giles, 2018-03-05 Originally published in 1987 This collection of original papers deals with various issues of specification in the context of the linear statistical model The volume honours the early econometric work of Donald Cochrane late Dean of Economics and Politics at Monash University in Australia The chapters focus on problems associated with autocorrelation of the error term in the linear regression model and include appraisals of early work on this topic by Cochrane and Orcutt The book includes an extensive survey of autocorrelation tests some exact finite sample tests and some issues in preliminary test estimation A wide range of other specification issues is discussed including the implications of random regressors for Bayesian prediction modelling with joint conditional probability functions and results from duality theory There is a major survey chapter dealing with specification tests for non nested models and some of the applications discussed by the contributors deal with the British National Accounts and with Australian financial and housing markets Aggregation, Consumption and Trade L. Philips, L.D. Taylor, 2012-12-06 In this testament to the distinguished career of H S Houthakker a number of Professor Houthakker's friends, former colleagues and former students offer essays which build upon and extend his many contributions to economics in aggregation, consumption, growth and trade. Among the many distinguished contributors are Paul Samuelson, Werner Hildenbrand, John Muellbauer and Lester Telser. The book also includes four previously unpublished papers and notes by its distinguished dedicatee.

Studies in Austrian Capital Theory, Investment, and Time Malte Faber, 2013-03-14 The neglect of time in general and of the time structure of production in particular in mainstream economics led to the rebirth of the Austrian tradition in the seventies. The names of BERNHOLZ, HICKS, KIRZNER and VON WEIZSACKER are representative of different approaches. In 1979 my Introduction to Modern Austrian Capital Theory appeared in which I unified various papers BERNHOLZ and I had written. I also linked our approach to those of VON NEUMANN, HICKS and of neoclassical capital theory. These Studies supplement and continue my Introduction in various ways. With all the authors of the present volume I have cooperated for several years. This volume is subdivided into five parts. The first one, Historical Perspectives, gives first an outline on the development of Austrian capital theory from its origins to the present. Next it relates Modern Austrian Capital Theory to SRAFFA's theory and to the Austrian subjectivists' pure time preference theory of interest. The latter theory is represented in its opposition to the traditional productivity cum time preference explanation of interest which is common to neoclassical and BOHM-BAWERKian capital theory alike. The Austrian subjectivist pure time preference theory has been misinterpreted in its recent presentation which has led to misunderstandings. It is shown that there is no real contradiction between the two approaches.

The Quarterly Journal of Economics Charles Franklin Dunbar, Frank William Taussig, Abbott Payson Usher, Alvin Harvey Hansen, William Leonard Crum, Edward Chamberlin, Arthur Eli Monroe, 1977 Vols 1-22 include the section Recent publications upon economics.

Journal of Economic Dynamics & Control, 1981 Agricultural Economics Staff Paper Series, 1988 Industry Productivity, 1996 Applied Welfare Economics and Public Policy Richard E. Just, Darrell L. Hueth, Andrew Schmitz, 1982 Southern Economic Journal, 2002 Australian Economic Papers, 1980 Artha Vijnāna, 1998 Fundamentals of Production Theory Rolf Färe, 1988-07-27 This graduate text develops production theory from a set of reasonable axioms. The theory is presented both in a primal and dual as well as in an indirect constrained framework. The basic model leads to a set of efficiency measures which can be readily employed in empirical work. A first draft of the text was used to teach students at Vanderbilt University. The text includes a variety of exercise problems.

Who's who in Economics Mark Blaug, 1986 This edition includes 337 new entries bringing the total to more than 1400 thumbnail sketches of economists active over the past three centuries. The brief biographies, including 1000 living economists, feature the name, date and place of birth, positions held, degrees, professional memberships and awards, major fields of interest.

and a 300 word statement of principal contributions The authors of the entries on living economists are the economists themselves ISBN 0 262 02256 7 100 00
