Drinking Man Alcohol Human Motivation:

The Drinking Man; Alcohol and Human Motivation David Clarence McClelland, 1972 Human Motivation David C. McClelland, 1988-01-29 Human Motivation originally published in 1987 offers a broad overview of theory and research from the perspective of a distinguished psychologist whose creative empirical studies of human motives span forty years David McClelland describes methods for measuring motives the development of motives out of natural incentives and the relationship of motives to emotions to values and to performance under a variety of conditions He examines four major motive systems achievement power affiliation and avoidance reviewing and evaluating research on how these motive systems affect behaviour Scientific understanding of motives and their interaction he argues contributes to understanding of such diverse and important phenomena as the rise and fall of civilisations the underlying causes of war the rate of economic development the nature of leadership the reasons for authoritarian or democratic governing styles the determinants of success in management and the factors responsible for health and illness Students and instructors alike will find this book an exciting and readable presentation of the psychology of human motivation Social Aspects of Alcoholism Benjamin Kissin, Henri Begleiter, 2013-06-29 The first three volumes of this series have dealt with materials which generally justify the title The Biology of Alcoholism This is only remotely true of the present volume Social Aspects of Alcoholism or of the final volume to come Treatment and Rehabilitation Except for small portions of the treatment section which involve pharmacotherapy much of these last two volumes deals with the psychological aspects of alcoholism and still more with the social It is interesting to review the evolution of this new pattern over the past seven years a pattern which had it existed initially would have resulted if not in a different format at least in a different title Our initial selection of areas to be covered was influenced by our desire to present as hard data as possible in an attempt to lend a greater aura of scientific rigor to a field which was generally considered as soft When we completed our review of this material in volumes 1 3 we recognized that what we might have gained in rigor we had more than lost in completeness These volumes presented a picture of a biological disease syndrome for which the remedies and preventive measures were presumably also biological And yet most workers in the field readily accept the significant contributions of psychological and social factors to the pathogenesis and treatment of alcoholism Understanding Human Motivation John Jung, 1978 Adolescent Alcoholism Estelle J. Abrams, 1984 Youth, Alcohol, and Social Policy Howard T. Blane, Morris E. Chafetz, 2012-12-06 Anxiety about alcohol and youth has been excited by shocking events and reports Events are exemplified by multiple deaths of adolescents in automobile crashes after drinking parties Reports are exemplified by the conclusion from a national survey that more than one fourth of youngsters aged 13 to 18 are already problem drinkers Response provoked by these events and reports has taken the form of proposed or enacted legislation in several states to raise the so called legal drinking age from 18 to 19 or 20 or 21 The confusion around the alcohol and youth problem is manifest in the fact that no one can be sure that raising the legal drinking age will make any difference The legislation may be tilting at windmills and it is doubtful even that the windmills exist But the legislative windmills are whirling The confusion is clearly manifest in the fact that the legal drinking age legislation does not deal with a drinking age The Drinking Man David Clarence McClelland,1971 Written in collaboration with W N Davis R Kahlin R and E Wanner Non Aboriginal material Journal of Studies on Alcohol ,1982

Human Motivation Russell G. Geen,1995 Geen departs from the conventional approach to human motivation going beyond the traditional survey of biological behavioral and social bases of motivation to capture the student's attention and focus on the problems of motivations with which we live every day Starting from the premise that most human behavior is social behavior Geen establishes a fundamental model of the motivational process by integrating the concepts of motive situation and incentive within a framework of how people set goals for themselves Literature Search National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1984 Human Motivation, a Guide to Information Sources Charles Norval Cofer,1980 Quarterly
