Boring Postcards:

Boring Postcards USA Martin Parr,2000-10-18 In Boring PostcardsMagnum photographer and postcard enthusiast Martin Parr brought together 160 of the dullest postcards of 1950s 60s and 70s Britain to make a book that was contrary to the conceit of its title both fascinating and extremely funny It was one of those ideas that seemed so obvious that no one could believe it hadn t been done before and it caught the public imagination in a big way In Britain Boring Postcardswas discussed everywhere from daytime TV shows to art and design magazines from local newspapers and radio stations outraged that their town should be labelled boring to Timemagazine Now Parr has turned his attention to the USA for a new book of Boring Postcards Just as before for a postcard to qualify as sufficiently boring either its composition its content or the characters featured must be arguably boring or the photograph must be absent of anything that might conventionally be described as interesting As the study of postcards becomes a field of academic interest this book offers more than amusement as a folk art recording of the non places and non events of post war America it reveals poignant insights into its social cultural and architectural values   Picturing the Postcard Monica Cure,2018-12-18 The first full length study of a once revolutionary visual and linguistic medium Literature has died many times this book tells the story of its death by postcard Picturing the Postcard looks to this unlikely source to shed light on our collective modern day obsession with new media The postcard almost unimaginably now produced at the end of the nineteenth century the same anxieties and hopes that many people think are unique to twenty first century social media such as Facebook or Twitter It promised a newly connected social world accessible to all and threatened the breakdown of authentic social relations and even of language Arguing that new media is as much a discursive object as a material one and that it is always in dialogue with the media that came before it Monica Cure reconstructs the postcard s history through journals legal documents and sources from popular culture analyzing the postcard s representation in fiction by well known writers such as E M Forster and Edith Wharton and by more obscure writers like Anne Sedgwick and Herbert Flowerdew Writers deployed uproar over the new medium of the postcard by Anglo American cultural critics to mirror anxieties about the changing nature of the literary marketplace which included the new role of women in public life the appeal of celebrity and the loss of privacy an increasing dependence on new technologies and the rise of mass media Literature kept open the postcard s possibilities and in the process reimagined what literature could be   Boring Postcards from Italy COLLEO,2016-12-07 With Boring Postcards from Italy COLL EO has collected more than one hundred of the most boring images from Forza Horizon 2 to produce a book that in sharp contrast to the title fascinates and surprises Boring Postcards from Italy redefined the relationship between reality and simulation with postcards that are boring both in content and composition The project is an appropriation and homage to Martins Parr s seminal Boring Postcards series a commentary on videogame architecture tourism and simulation photography and representation It is above all a provocation Text in English   Boring Postcards Martin Parr,2008-03-01 A runaway hit this book presents the cream of photographer Martin Parr s fabled collection of British postcards of the 1950s 1970s Presents 155 comically dull postcards of places ranging from airport terminals to caravan sites bus stations motorways and housing estates Tackles with wit and irony such subjects as bad taste food the tourist shopping and the foibles of the British A unique documentary of British architecture social life and identity   Driving Spaces Peter Merriman,2011-07-22 Peter Merriman traces the social and cultural histories and geographies of driving spaces through an examination of the design construction and use of England s M1 motorway in the 1950s and 1960s A first of its kind academic study examining the production and consumption of the landscapes and spaces of a British motorway An interdisciplinary approach engaging with theoretical and empirical work from sociology history cultural studies anthropology and geography Contains 38 high quality illustrations Based on extensive original archive work   Post Ex Sub Dis Ghent Urban Studies Team,2002 Post ex sub and dis these are but a few of the prefixes that have been used to compose neologisms for describing the contemporary cityscape Terms such as posturban space postsuburbia exurbia and disurbia are part of a dizzying collection of often hotly contested labels This plethora demonstrates how difficult it has become to name map and analyse the cityscape Urban environments have come to evince a radically chaotic and fragmented structure This book explores how fragmentation has acquired new meanings and how the urban landscape is constantly being deconstructed and reconstructed Richly illustrated with works by artists and photographers the volume contains a series of essays on spatial social and cultural issues written by distinguished scholars from an unusual variety of disciplines   Postcards David Prochaska,Jordana Mendelson,2010 Examines postcards as images that are carriers of text and textual correspondence that circulate images across boundaries of class gender nationality and race Discusses issues concerning the concrete practices of production consumption collection and appropriation   Reading the Everyday Joe Moran,2005-11-16 In an ever growing field of study this is a major contribution to one of the key areas in cultural studies and cultural theory the spaces practices and mythologies of our everyday culture Drawing on the work of such continental theorists as Henri Lefebvre Michel de Certeau Marc Aug and Siegfried Kracauer Joe Moran explores the concrete sites and routines of everyday life and how they are represented through political discourse news media material culture photography reality TV shows CCTV and much more Unique in his focus of the under explored banal aspects of everyday culture including office life commuting traffic and mass housing Moran re evaluates conventional notions of everyday life in cultural studies and shows that analysing such boring phenomena can help make sense of cultural and social change This book is interdisciplinary in its approach and covers many different areas including visual culture cultural geography material culture and cultural history as well as the key areas of cultural studies and sociology Students from all these subjects will find this clearly written and lively work an invaluable study resource   Postcards of the Night John A. Jakle,2003 Illustrated with eighty vintage city postcards made between the turn of the twentieth century and through the 1970 s with the emphasis on the first four decades historical geographer John A Jakle turns his attention to early twentieth century nocturnal views of America s cities and to the role of the picture postcard in popular culture Postcard images the author writes offered important visual fixes mental templates for visualising cities the vista of a downtown street at night or a bird s eye view of a vividly lit downtown or the dramatic lighting of monuments and other architectural landmarks As a result the popularity and proliferation of the penny postcard influenced how Americans thought about cities as landscape displays Interiors ,2001 Walker Evans and the Picture Postcard Jeff Rosenheim,Walker Evans,Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.),2009 Sketchbook volume one of a two volume set documents the best of the optical illusions discovered and sketched in our CAD system It is also attempts to define common visual attributes and categorize optical illusions by those features The goal is give the reader new tools to help them better identify and classify optical illusions These illusions are used by engineers academics and artists to graphically depict their ideas and the world around them on flat surfaces Across the Board ,2003 Town & Country Planning ,2001 Eye ,2004 New Book Design Roger Fawcett-Tang,2004-05-25 New Book Design showcases the most interesting influential and accomplished book designs from the last ten years It features over 100 titles published around the world each chosen for their outstanding design qualities from the publications of large mainstream publishers to those of small independent companies and even those from individual artists Included in its pages are lavishly produced books with unconventional formats and unusual print techniques as well as less flamboyant publications produced for various different markets A wide variety of books are featured from paperback novels to architectural monographs from text based to profusely illustrated books Divided into four main sections Packaging Navigation Layout and Specification the book examines each facet of book design cover design contents and structure image usage grids typography paper printing and binding Clear photography captures each featured book and interviews with prominent book designers art directors and publishers provide extra insight New Book Design is sure to provide a rich source of inspiration to book designers and bibliophiles alike Bookforum ,1998 The British Journal of Photography William Crookes,T.
