Child Care Facing The Hard Choices:

Child Care Alfred Kahn, Sheila Kamerman, 1987-03-30 As the need for child care services in the United States continues to grow so does the debate about how effective child care policies should be shaped It is more important than ever for legislators public officials advocacy groups and concerned parents and citizens to focus on that debate and on the need to change policies and attitudes changes that must take place if children and families are to have sufficient affordable and quality child care services This volume provides a balanced and thorough assessment of the child care field and a thought provoking guide to the difficult choices that lie ahead The authors experts in child and family policy examine important facts about major demographic and social developments describe the effects of the Reagan administration s emphasis on privatization and deregulation and analyze the contributions and limitations of several local and state initiatives An invaluable source for everyone concerned with child care issues this volume makes solid recommendations for shaping a much needed child care policy that is responsive to the circumstances and needs of families and their children Debate Over Child Care, 1969-1990 Abbie Gordon Klein, 1992-01-01 The Debate Over Child Care 1969 1990 offers a new perspective on the pervading problem of providing child care services in the United States The author traces the contemporary debate over the sponsorship of child care services and compares this to the past debate over the sponsorship of kindergartens during the Progressive Era Klein compares the function of child care across societal sectors and points out that turf fighting and imbedded ideological differences have prohibited the development of a proactive social policy for providing needed child care services She analyzes the advantages and disadvantages of five different sponsors the public schools the church private enterprise non profit organizations and corporations Past and present federal legislation is discussed in relation to the divisive issue of sponsorship Hard Choices Kathleen Gerson, 1986-03-17 How do women choose between work and family commitments And what are the causes limits and consequences of the subtle revolution in women s choices over the 1960s and 1970s To answer these questions Kathleen Gerson analyzes the experiences of a carefully selected group of middle class and working class women who were young adults in the 1970s Their informative life histories reveal the emerging social forces in American society that have led today s women to face several difficult choices Who Will Mind the Baby? Kim England, 2005-08-12 One of the most significant social and economic changes of recent years has been the explosion in the number of mothers in the work place and in paid employment generally Child care policy provision and funding has in no way kept up with this change Who Will Mind the Baby explores how working mothers negotiate their responsibilities in the face of these difficulties The book contrasts the limited child care policies of the United States and Canada with the more advanced situation in Europe and Australia focusing in particular on the coping strategies of working mothers Making Work and Family Work Jeffrey H. Greenhaus, Gary N. Powell, 2016-07-22 Making Work and Family Work investigates the difficult choices that contemporary employees must face when juggling work and family with a view to identifying the smart choices that all parties involved society employers employees and families should make to promote greater work life balance Leading scholars Jeffrey Greenhaus and Gary Powell begin by identifying the factors that work against an employee s ability to be effective and satisfied in their work and family roles From there they examine a variety of factors that impact the decision making process that employees and their families can use to enhance employees feelings of work family balance and families well being Covering a comprehensive set of topics and perspectives this fascinating book will appeal to upper level students of human resource management organizational behavior industrial organizational psychology sociology and economics as well as to thoughtful and engaged professionals Atlanta Paradox David L. Sjoquist,2000-05-25 Despite the rapid creation of jobs in the greater Atlanta region poverty in the city itself remains surprisingly high and Atlanta s economic boom has yet to play a significant role in narrowing the gap between the suburban rich and the city poor This book investigates the key factors underlying this paradox The authors show that the legacy of past residential segregation as well as the more recent phenomenon of urban sprawl both work against inner city blacks Many remain concentrated near traditional black neighborhoods south of the city center and face prohibitive commuting distances now that jobs have migrated to outlying northern suburbs The book also presents some promising signs Few whites still hold overt negative stereotypes of blacks and both whites and blacks would prefer to live in more integrated neighborhoods The emergence of a dynamic black middle class and the success of many black owned businesses in the area also give the authors reason to hope that racial inequality will not remain entrenched in a city where so much else has changed A Volume in the Multi City Study of Urban Inequality Handbook of Parenting Marc H Bornstein,1995 Children Today ,1990 The Day Care Dilemma Keith Melville,1989 Working Mothers and the Welfare State Kimberly J. Morgan,2006 This book explains why countries have adopted different policies for working parents through a comparative historical study of four nations France the Netherlands Sweden and the United States Effective Schooling for Economically Disadvantaged Students J. Howard Johnston,Kathryn M. Borman,1992 Although the problems of educating disadvantaged youth often seem overwhelming this volume provides optimistic insights on the subject All of the contributors are committed to the principle that disadvantaged children can be served by schools They recommend major policy changes dramatic alterations of school structures and practices and fundamentally different ways of viewing both disadvantaged youth and effective schooling The volume presents an interdisciplinary approach to research and a collaborative approach to school based interventions The topics covered include family involvement in schooling linguistic contexts of schooling political and social policy analyses school practices and the role of foundations in supporting school improvement The focal groups include young children young and older adolescents ethnic and linguistic minorities and families The first section of the volume focuses on issues facing policymakers and educators The second section focuses on linkages among children s learning in schools families and community based agencies and programs The final section examines school practices that affect the performance of disadvantaged and minority students in existing school structures      The Bureaucrat ,1988      Public Policy and the Supply of Child Care Services James R. Walker,1990      Lone-parent Families Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development,1990 This volume is based on papers presented at a conference of social policy experts that looked at the growth in lone parent families the problems that have emerged and their policy implications Chapter 1 is an Overview Duskin Three chapters look at demographic trends over time and over the life cycle they are Demographic Aspects of the Growing Number of Lone Parent Families Ermisch Lone Parent Families and Their Economic Problems Transitory or Persistent Duncan Rodgers and Analysis of the Dynamics of Lone Parenthood Socio Economic Influences on Entry and Exit Rates Ermisch et al Two chapters explore relative financial responsibilities Lone Parent Families Family Law and Income Transfers Maclean and Child Support and Public Policy Garfinkel Wong Three chapters examine barriers limiting the access of the custodial parent to the labor market and adequate earnings Obstacles and Opportunities for Lone Parents as Breadwinners in Great Britain Joshi Labor Force Participation and Earnings of Lone Parents A Swedish Case Study Including Comparisons with Germany Gustafsson and Child Care Policies in Comparative Perspective An Introductory Discussion Ergas The final three chapters concern the role of public income maintenance Valuing the United States Income Support System for Lone Mothers Ellwood Lone Mothers Social Assistance and Work Incentives The Evidence in France Ray and Support for Lone Parents in Norway Askevold YLB      Discussion Papers ,1991      Integrating Services Integration Alfred J. Kahn,Sheila B. Kamerman,1992      FYI Resources on Local Government, 1983-87 ,1988      The Common Good Ford Foundation. Project on Social Welfare and the American Future. Executive Panel,1989 The core of the U S social welfare system provides old age pensions unemployment insurance and aid to dependent children In recent years as social and economic developments have created new vulnerabilities for the American family observers are asking whether the system needs refinement and rethinking The Project on Social Welfare and the American Future was established by the Ford Foundation to address the issue of making the welfare system more responsive to the present needs of children and families The project consisted of research policy analysis and deliberations by an 11 member panel of citizens representing the business academic labor civic and civil rights communities This final report of the project includes the following sections 1 Reexamining Our Social Welfare System 2 Infancy and Childhood A Time to Sow 3 Young Adulthood Preparing for a World of Work 4 The Working Years Increasing Economic Opportunity and Social Protection 5 Old Age A Time to Reap and Sow Again and 6 How to Pay the Bill Three appendices list related resources and other projects funded by the Project on Social Welfare and the American Future VM      The Vulnerable John Logan Palmer,1988      Hidden Dialogue Leila Philip,1992
