Children Learn Wendy L. Ostroff L. Ostroff, 2012-08-24 Human beings are born to learn. During the last few decades, developmental science has exploded with discoveries of how specifically learning happens. This provides us with an unprecedented window into children's minds: how and when they begin to think, perceive, understand, and apply knowledge. Wendy Ostroff builds on this research and shows you how to harness the power of the brain, the most powerful learning machine in the universe. She highlights the processes that inspire or propel learning: play, confidence, self-regulation, movement, mnemonic strategies, metacognition, articulation, and collaboration, and distills the research into a synthesis of the most important takeaway ideas that teachers will need as they design their curriculum and pedagogy. Each chapter has suggested activities for exactly how teachers can put theory into practice in the classroom. When you understand how your students learn, you will know how to teach them in ways that harness the brain's natural learning systems. Dr. Wendy L. Ostroff is Associate Professor in the Program for the Advancement of Learning at Curry College. Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on the Science of Children Birth to Age 8: Deepening and Broadening the Foundation for Success, 2015-07-23 Children are already learning at birth and they develop and learn at a rapid pace in their early years. This provides a critical foundation for lifelong progress, and the adults who provide for the care and the education of young children bear a great responsibility for their health, development, and learning. Despite the fact that they share the same objective to nurture young children and secure their future success, the various practitioners who contribute to the care and the education of children from birth through age 8 are not acknowledged as a workforce unified by the common knowledge and competencies needed to do their jobs well. Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 explores the science of child development, particularly looking at implications for the professionals who work with children. This report examines the current capacities and practices of the workforce, the settings in which they work, the policies and infrastructure that set qualifications and provide professional learning, and the government agencies and other funders who support and oversee these systems. This book then makes recommendations to improve the quality of professional practice and the practice environment for care and education professionals. These detailed recommendations create a blueprint for action that builds on a unifying foundation of child development and early learning, shared knowledge and competencies for care and education professionals, and principles for effective professional learning. Young children thrive and learn best when they have secure, positive relationships with adults who are knowledgeable about how to support their development and learning and are responsive to their individual progress. Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 offers guidance on system changes to improve the quality of professional practice, specific actions to improve professional learning systems and workforce development, and research to continue to build the knowledge base in ways that will directly advance and inform future actions. The recommendations of this book provide an opportunity to improve the quality of the care and the education that children receive and ultimately improve outcomes for children

Whole-Child Development, Learning, and Thriving Pamela Cantor, Richard M. Lerner, Karen J. Pittman, Paul A. Chase, Nora Gomperts, 2021-05-20 We discuss whole child development learning and thriving through a dynamic systems theory lens that focuses on the United States and includes an analysis of historical challenges in the American public education system including inequitable resources opportunities and outcomes To transform US education systems developmental and learning scientists educators policymakers parents and communities must apply the knowledge they have today to 1 challenge the assumptions and goals that drove the design of the current US education system 2 articulate a revised comprehensive definition of whole child development learning and thriving that accepts rather than simplifies how human beings develop 3 create a profound paradigm shift in how the purpose of education is described in the context of social cultural and political forces including the impacts of race privilege and bias and 4 describe a new dynamic language for measurement of both the academic competencies and the full set of 21st century skills
