Children's Fiction about 9/11 Jo Lampert,2009-09-10 Looking at examples including picture books young adult novels and DC Comics Lampert explores ethnic national and heroic identities in this pioneering and timely book that examines the ways in which cultural identities are constructed within young adult and children s literature about the attacks of September 11 2001

Neo-Imperialism in Children's Literature About Africa Yulisa Amadu Maddy,Donnarae MacCann,2008-12-28 In this book the authors expose the neo imperialist overtones of contemporary children s fiction about Africa Examining the portrayal of African social customs religious philosophies and political structures in fiction for young people Maddy and MacCann reveal the Western biases that often infuse stories by well known Western authors

Popular Children's Literature in Britain Julia Briggs, Dennis Butts, 2016-12-05 The astonishing success of J K Rowling and other contemporary children's authors has demonstrated how passionately children can commit to the books they love But this kind of devotion is not new This timely volume takes up the challenge of assessing the complex interplay of forces that have created the popularity of children's books both today and in the past The essays collected here ask about the meanings and values that have been ascribed to the term popular They consider whether popularity can be imposed or if it must always emerge from children's preferences And they investigate how the Harry Potter phenomenon fits into a repeated cycle of success and decline within the publishing industry Whether examining eighteenth century chapbooks fairy tales science schoolbooks Victorian adventures waif novels or school stories these essays show how historical and publishing contexts are vital in determining which books will succeed and which will fail which bestsellers will endure and which will fade quickly into obscurity As they consider the fiction of Angela Brazil Enid Blyton Roald Dahl and J K Rowling the contributors carefully analyse how authorial talent and cultural contexts combine in often unpredictable ways to generate and sometimes even sustain literary success

The Farmer's Weekly, 1930

National Character in South African English Children's Literature Elwyn Jenkins, 2006-11-01 This is the first full length study of South African English youth literature to cover the entire period of its publication from the late nineteenth century to the early twenty first century Jenkins book focuses on what made the subsequent literature essentially South African and what aspects of the country and its society authors concentrated on What gives this book particular strength is its coverage of literature up to the 1960s which has until now received almost no scholarly attention Not only is this earlier literature a rewarding subject for study in itself but it also throws light on subsequent literary developments Another exceptional feature is that the book follows the author's previous work in placing children's literature in the context of adult South African literature and South African cultural history e.g cinema He also makes enlightening comparisons with American Canadian and Australian children's literature
