Born In Flames:

Born in Flames Lizzie Borden, 2011 An illustrated transcript of Lizzie Borden's 1983 film Born in Flames edited and designed by Kaisa Lassarano. It includes an interview with Borden conducted in L.A. by Lassarano as well as the lyrics of Undercover Nation by The Bloods and Born in Flames by Red Crayola kindly supplied by Adele Bertei and Mayo Thompson. Released as a motion picture in 1983, the film is a futuristic fable of feminist turmoil still brewing ten years after the Second American Revolution. When Adelaide Norris, the black radical founder of the Women's Army, is mysteriously killed, a diverse coalition of women across all lines of race, class, and sexual preference emerges to blow the System apart. With their fury growing and all peaceful options exhausted, women overcome divisions of race, class, and sexual orientation to form a guerilla movement to take over control of the media. The film poses the question of whether oppression against women will be eliminated under any kind of social system. Born in Flames, 2013

Born in Flames Lizzie Borden, 2011 The (Moving) Pictures Generation V. Dika, 2012-03-14 Beginning in the late 1970s, a number of visual artists in downtown New York City returned to an exploration of the cinematic across mediums. Vera Dika considers their work within a greater cultural context and probes for a deeper understanding of the practice. Women Film Directors Gwendolyn A. Foster, 1995-11-14 Until now, there hasn't been one single, authoritative reference work on the history of women in film, highlighting nearly every woman filmmaker from the dawn of cinema, including Alice Guy (France, 1896), Chantal Akerman (Belgium), Penny Marshall (U.S.), and Sally Potter (U.K.). Every effort has been made to include every kind of woman filmmaker, commercial and mainstream, avant-garde and minority, and to give a complete cross-section of the work of these remarkable women. Scholars and students of film, popular culture, Women's Studies, and International Studies, as well as film buffs, will learn much from this work. The Dictionary covers the careers of nearly 200 women filmmakers, giving vital statistics, where available, listings of films directed by these women, and selected bibliographies for further reading. This is a one-volume, one-stop resource, a comprehensive, up-to-date guide that is absolutely essential for any course offering an overview or survey of women's cinema. It offers not only all available statistics but critical evaluations of the filmmakers' work as well. In order to keep the length manageable, this volume focuses on women who direct fictional narrative films, with occasional forays into the area of the documentary, and is limited to film production rather than video production. Independent Female Filmmakers Michele Meek, 2018-12-21 Independent Female Filmmakers collects original and previously published essays, interviews, and manifestos from some of the most defining and groundbreaking independent female filmmakers of the last 40 years.
