Chicas Serias:

Crisis TV María del Carmen Caña Jiménez, Vinodh Venkatesh, 2024-11-01 Crisis TV addresses the motif of crisis that has come to dominate contemporary Hispanic televisual production since 2008 and the onset of the global financial crisis In almost unprecedented fashion the global economy came to a standstill reshaping both geopolitical organizations and more importantly the lives of billions across the globe The Great Recession sociopolitical instabilities the rise of extremist political parties and governments and a worldwide pandemic have resulted in a mode of crisis that pervades contemporary television fiction 2008 also marks a revolution in television as local and global streaming services began to gain market share and even overtake traditional over the air transmission The essays in Crisis TV identify and analyze the narrative tropes and aesthetic qualities of Hispanic television post 2008 to understand how different regions and genres have negotiated these intersecting crises and changing dynamics in production dissemination and consumption

Independent Women Claire Perkins, Michele Schreiber, 2021-06-07 Independent Women From Film to Television explores the significance for feminism of the increasing representation of women on and behind the screen in television contexts around the world Independent has functioned throughout film and television history as an important euphemism for feminist This volume investigates how this connection plays out in a contemporary environment that popular feminist discourse is constructing as a golden age of television for women The original essays in the volume offer insights into how post network television is being valued as a new site of independent production for women They also examine how these connotations of creative control influence perceptions of both female creators and their content as feminist Together they provide a compelling perspective on the feminist consequences of how independence and indie have intensified as cultural sensibilities that coincide and engage with the digital transformation of television during the first decades of the 21st century The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of Feminist Media Studies
