Cohabitation Great Britain: Law Commission, 2006-05-31 This consultation paper considers options for reform of the current law in relation to the property and financial rights of cohabiting couples either opposite sex or same sex couples when a relationship ends Although the paper does discuss the situation in relation to when one of the partners dies it focuses on whether a new scheme is needed to provide financial remedies on separation when a relationship breaks down Amongst the provisional proposals the Committee identifies the need for the introduction of new statutory remedies to address the separation of cohabiting couples who have children however the situation for cohabitants without children is found to raise more difficult social policy questions and the views of consultees are sought about their eligibility within the proposed scheme Other proposals include that courts should be given discretion in determining financial claims on separation rather than having fixed rules for property division based on principles of the contributions of both parties to the joint household and to the welfare of dependent children both before and after separation with the provision for an opt out agreement for couples under the proposed statutory scheme Responses to the proposals should be received by 30th September 2006 and a final report is due to be published by August 2007 An overview document summarising the key issues considered is available separately ISBN 011730266X Obligation and Commitment in Family Law Gillian Douglas, 2018-04-19 A tension lies at the heart of family law Expressed in the language of rights and duties it seeks to impose enforceable obligations on individuals linked to each other by ties that are usually regarded as based on love or blood Taking a contextual approach that draws on history sociology and social policy as well as law and legal theory this book examines the concept of obligation as it has been developed in family law and the difficulties the law has had in translating it from a theoretical and ideological concept into the basis of enforceable actions and duties Increasingly the idea of commitment has been offered as the key organising principle for the recognition of family relationships often as a means of rebutting claims that family ties are becoming attenuated but the meaning and scope of this concept have not been explored The book traces how the notion of commitment is understood and how far it has come to be used as a rationale for imposing the core legal obligations which underpin care and caring within families Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
