Pharmacological Effects of Traditional Chinese Medicine on Cardiovascular Disease Jianxun Liu,Guanhua Du,Xiu-Wei Yang,2021-12-03 Cardiovascular diseases include ischemic and hemorrhagic diseases involving the heart brain whole body tissue and includes coronary heart disease heart failure arrhythmia atherosclerosis and stroke This particular group of diseases continue to be a leading cause of death throughout the world with mortality rate remaining high Currently drugs administered orally and intravenously and surgical treatments are used to treat such diseases Traditional Chinese medicine TCM refers to natural herbal medicines and their processed products used for preventing and treating disease under the guidance of traditional Chinese medicine s theory The implementation of prevention and treatment programs of ischemic cardiovascular diseases with the use of TCM have been associated with positive outcomes in terms of a reduction in the disability and mortality rate of some patients Other studies have also shown that specific multi component TCM preparations have therapeutic benefits based on multi target and multi pathway mechanisms which may have advantages over the current single component and single target therapy Based these characteristics approved pharmaceutical drugs based in TCM such as Compound Danshen Dripping Pills Naoxintong

Capsules Tonxinluo Capsules and Danhong Injection are currently used to treat cardiovascular diseases. However, there are a number of areas that still need further investigation. For example, the identification of effective components in herbal medicine is essential in furthering our understanding of what occurs at a pharmacological level, the metabolizing pharmacological pathways of such components, the cellular target of the components, and the lack of standardized guidelines to enhance clinical research.

Registerial Expertise in Traditional Chinese Medical Translation Yan Yue, 2025-03-31. Yue's book explores the nature of translation using traditional Chinese medicine (TCM) and the TCM classic Huangdi Neijing and its various translations. Yue examines in great detail and depth the important factors that cause the differences in the translators' treatment of language indeterminacies. Apart from having multi-faceted and fine-grained linguistic analysis, this book also serves as a good model of methodology in terms of corpus building, contrastive analysis, exemplification, and glossing following systemic functional linguistics (SFL) convention. This book is an argument for greater emphasis on the linguistic notion of register in translators' expertise, specifically in the way that professional experience and training with their registerial demands may be the key to semantic decisions forced on a translator by the inevitable vagaries and indeterminacies of establishing a working equivalence across languages and cultures and deep time. It probes the issue in an extreme case: the debate over who is the ideal translator in Chinese medicine translation through various case studies. The result suggests it is possible to demonstrate empirically that clinical experience in translators is likely to have consistent or even measurable consequences. This book will be of interest to three different fields: translators in training, applicable systemic functional linguistics, and traditional Chinese medicine communication.

The Treatment of Pain with Chinese Herbs and Acupuncture E-Book Peilin Sun, 2010-09-08. This new edition of The Treatment of Pain with Chinese Herbs and Acupuncture gives a thorough and analytical review of the diagnosis and treatment options for pain using acupuncture with Chinese herbal medicine. Based on the clinical experience of the author and supported by that of acupuncturists in Chinese universities, it offers a comprehensive and detailed set of treatments for a wide variety of pain symptoms and conditions and includes detailed modifications of the treatments to aid clinical practice. Although pain syndromes are often complicated, involving both psychological and physical difficulties, resulting in sometimes hesitation in deciding a correct treatment, there are still some short-cut ways to achieve a successful result. Therefore, the essential intentions of the authors are very clear: to demonstrate to practitioners how to differentiate the clinical situations and how to establish the corresponding treatments. To illustrate how to apply Chinese herbs logically and how to consist an acupuncture prescription reasonably and effectively.

Features: Thorough exploration of the aetiologies and pathologies for pain in the context of Traditional Chinese Medicine. Clear discussion of the principles of treatment, acupuncture point selection, and combination. Detailed explanation of herbal and acupuncture treatments for common and complex pain conditions. Deals comprehensively with the commonest clinical presenting symptoms. Provides treatment plans and modifications to these plans, offering more options for the practitioner.

Includes detailed and useful case histories New to this edition New chapter on treatment of pain in children Separate sections for the gynecologic conditions Includes Western named conditions Red Flags for practitioners to indicate situations which are potentially life threatening or dangerous Suggested treatments now include acupuncture as well as herbal treatments Following on from each treatment a prognosis is now provided Thorough exploration of the aetiologies and pathologies for pain in the context of Traditional Chinese Medicine Clear discussion of the principles of treatment acupuncture point selection and combination Detailed explanation of herbal and acupuncture treatments for common and complex pain conditions Deals comprehensively with the commonest clinical presenting symptoms Provides treatment plans and modifications to these plans offering more options for the practitioner Includes detailed and useful case histories New chapter on treatment of pain in children Separate sections for the gynecologic conditions Includes Western named conditions Red Flags for practitioners to indicate situations which are potentially life threatening or dangerous Suggested treatments now include acupuncture as well as herbal treatments Following on from each treatment a prognosis is now provided
