Between Modernism and Conceptual Art Robert C. Morgan, 1997-07-01 Art criticism in the 1980s was highly influenced by market forces that somewhat changed the face of the art world A mediocre show purchased by a wealthy investor or collector received disproportionate coverage in the New York press particularly those glossy four color journals that were highly dependent upon the advertising dollars of galleries auction houses vodka companies airlines and fashion designers Lost in the coverage of market driven art was that it was not necessarily the most advanced or even the most significant work of the decade This work provides an alternative viewpoint to the general American cultural discourse of the 1980s showing that the real situation was not the exclusionary rhetoric of Postmodernism but was instead the conflict between late Modernism and Conceptual Art The 24 essays range from discussions on Joseph Beuys and Allan Kaprow to studies of French artist Tania Mouraud and Polish artist Jan Zakrzewski It also includes a lengthy commentary on art and technology along with a look at performance and installation art Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here "Science, Technology, and Utopias" Christine Filippone, 2017-07-05 The rise of proxy wars the Space Race and cybernetics during the Cold War marked science and technology as vital sites of social and political power Women artists historically excluded from these domains responded critically while simultaneously redeploying the products of Technological Society into works that promoted ideals of progress and alternative concepts of human community In this innovative book author Christine Filippone offers the first focused examination of the conceptual use of science and technology by women artists during and just after the women s movement She argues that artists Alice Aycock Agnes Denes Martha Rosler and Carolee Schneemann used science and technology to mount a critique on Cold War American society as they saw it conservative and constricting Motivated by the contemporary American Women s Movement these artists transformed science and technology into new modes of artmaking that transgressed modernist heroic painterly styles and subverted the traditional economic structures of the gallery the museum and the dealer At the same time the artists also embraced these domains of knowledge and practice as expressions of hope for a better future Many found inspiration in the scientific theory of open systems which investigated problems of wholeness dynamic interaction and organization enabling consideration of the porous boundaries between human bodies and their social political and nonhuman environments Filippone also establishes that the theory of open systems not only informed feminist art but also continued to influence women artists practice of reclamation and ecological art through the twenty first century Conceptual Art in the Netherlands and Belgium 1965-1975 Carel Blotkamp, 2002 Many of today s artists display an affinity for the techniques and subjects of 1960s and 70s Conceptual art Conceptual Art In The Netherlands And Belgium 1965 1975 takes a fresh look at the work of Bas Jan Ader Carl Andre Art Language John Baldessari Marcel Broodthaers Daniel Buren Jan Dibbets Gilbert George Joseph Kosuth Sol Lewitt Bruce Nauman On Kawara Edward Ruscha Robert Ryman Robert Smithson Lawrence
